

Misting Control Program Begins In Circleville

By DAVE AMEY
Herald City Editor

Misting to curb the mosquito population in Pickaway County, a population swelled with the specie capable of giving encephalitis to humans, will begin tonight in Circleville, members of the Pickaway County Board of Health said Tuesday.

The action comes after the Board of Health voted to purchase the chemical insecticide, Malathion, from their internal funds instead of waiting as long as a week for an $8,300 Ohio Department of Health grant that accompanies the program.

Board treasury will be reimbursed from the ODH funds, which may be used during the duration of the misting program for the purchase of insecticides.

The Ultra Low Velocity mister, on loan from the Ohio Department of Health, was to be mounted on a pickup truck this morning, according to Barnhill, who will head the program initially. Two CETA employees, authorized by Pickaway County Commissioners, will operate the mister, which sprays fine particles of the undiluted insecticide and kills all insects on contact.

The device will be used "where needed," according to the board. Areas of need have been identified by Mosquito Control expert Bob Kramer, but persons who know of large swarms should contact the Health Department for a survey.

MRS. WANDA KITCHEN

Mrs. Robert (Wanda) Kitchen, Route 1, Laurelville, was hired as Department Supervisor, replacing Leo Kahanek who resigned earlier in the month.

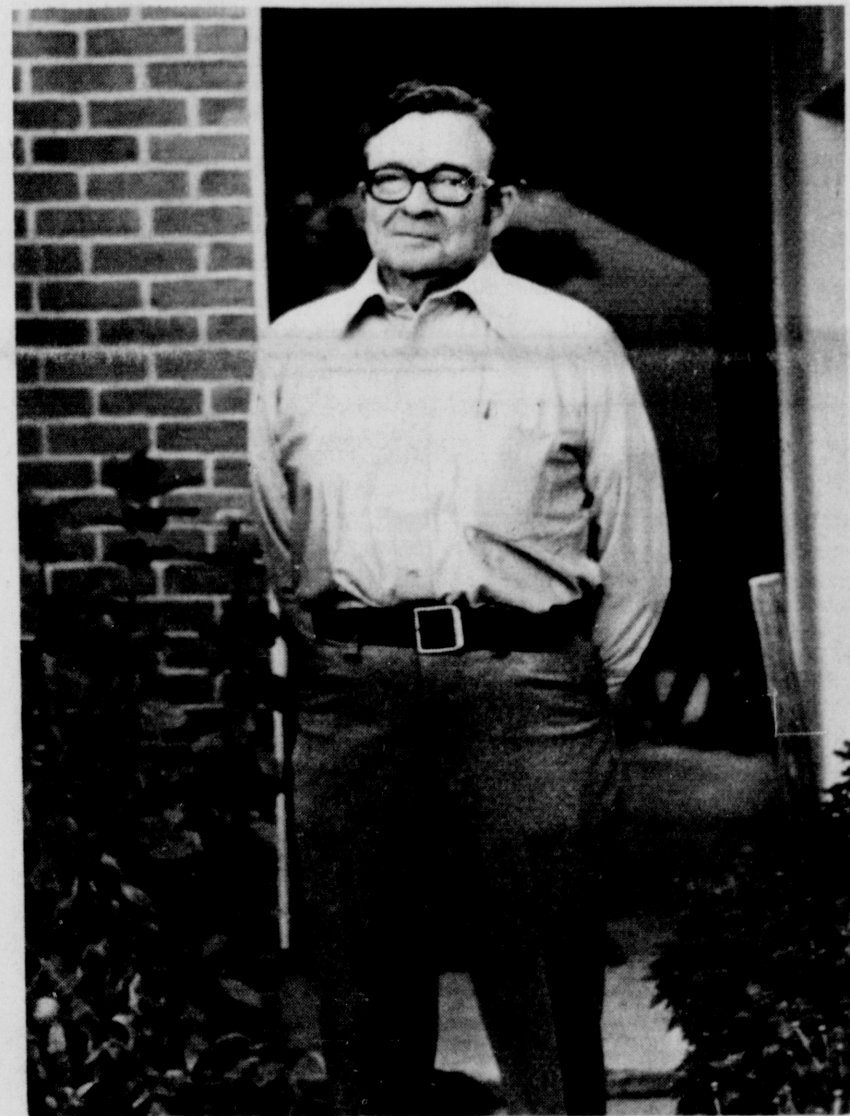

Mrs. Kitchen will begin her duties Sept. 15.

The Board will hold a special session Tuesday, Sept. 7, at 7:30 p.m. to create an effective job description for her position and to iron out other situations which surfaced at the meeting.

One situation was the possibility of using Federal seed money to create a

William Radcliff Retires As Judge

RETIRING JUDGE — After a long history of service on the state and local level, Judge William Radcliff has retired from the Ohio Supreme Court.

By ANDI PORTER
Herald Staff Writer

Judge William Radcliff, a life-time resident of Pickaway County, retired Tuesday as administrative director of the Ohio Supreme Court. Although he is withdrawing from his job, he will not leave the life he has made for himself in Circleville.

"Neither Katie (his wife) nor myself particularly like Florida," so Judge Radcliff said they will stay at their present residence at 630 Ridgewood Drive.

After admitted to the bar in 1933 and working for 43 years, Judge Radcliff plans to spend a lot of his newly-acquired free time working at his farm in Williamsport.

He and his wife are leaving next week for a vacation to the Switzerland Alps, and plan to travel often. Mrs. Radcliff has two grandchildren in San Diego, Calif., so they will have the time now to visit them frequently.

During Judge Radcliff's 13 years with the Ohio Supreme Court, he was in charge of all the non-judicial functions of the court. "My staff had nothing to do with the deciding of cases," he said, but all other matters originated in his office.

Five people on his staff totaling 51 were directly involved with the drafting of all court rules, fiscal matters and grievance procedures. His office also gives the bar examination twice a year and maintains the library and clerical staff.

Before traveling to Columbus, Judge Radcliff served in Pickaway County. He was on the bench of the common pleas court for 16 years and also a judge of the Fourth District Court of Appeals of Ohio.

Judge Radcliff said it has been a standing joke that "the first time I was associated with the court of appeals is when I was on the court of appeals and the first time I was in the Supreme Court is when I was sitting there on assignment."

During all the years he practiced law, the opportunity never came up to bring a case to either one of those courts.

Of all his past jobs, Judge Radcliff feels the biggest sense of accomplishment from being administrative director. When he was on the bench, the satisfaction was never complete because as soon as one case was decided, there was always another one waiting. With the administrative job, there was more of a chance to finish one duty then proceed to something else.

Judge Radcliff originally came from Williamsport. He graduated from Williamsport High School in 1926. His higher education was gained from Ohio Wesleyan and Ohio Northern Colleges.

His son Dudley now lives in Williamsport at the house Judge Radcliff grew up in. Dudley presently is a probation officer for the Pickaway County Juvenile Court.

The judge will continue to serve on the board at the Third National Bank. That, along with the traveling and farming will keep the Radcliff's busy during the retirement years.

Gifts, Free Work Bring Recommendation

Urge Firing Of FBI Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Justice Department investigator probing charges against FBI officials says FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley should be fired for accepting gifts from his subordinates, according to an informed source.

The source said the recommendation that Kelley be fired as FBI director was one of two suggestions placed before Atty. Gen. Edward Levi three weeks ago. Levi, who has been on vacation, has taken no action on the recommendations.

The second Justice Department recommendation disagrees with the first recommendation and proposes a public reprimand for Kelley instead of dismissal, the source said.

Both recommendations came after Kelley admitted to a Justice Department task force investigating allegations against bureau officials that he accepted gifts from subordinates. Among the gifts listed were a $200 walnut table, a $250 clock, a $250 easy chair and a handmade teak and mahogany jewelry box, the source said.

John M. Dowd, who heads the Justice Department probe into charges of misconduct by FBI officials, was the official who called for firing Kelley, according to the source.

The Washington Post reported today that Dowd's reasoning was that Kelley could not properly control subordinates after they had given him expensive presents. The story could not be immediately confirmed.

Michael E. Shaheen Jr., who heads the department's Office of Professional Responsibility, disagreed with Dowd's recommendation and suggested the public reprimand, the source said. Shaheen is Dowd's immediate superior.

Kelley issued a statement Tuesday acknowledging that he had received Christmas and anniversary gifts from his office staff and from senior FBI officials. He said he was "prepared to make restitution for any of such gifts which are not clearly permitted" by federal law.

Kelley issued the statement after the Washington Star reported that FBI workers installed drapery valances in his apartment shortly after he took office in mid-1973.

Kelley admitted in a statement Tuesday that he told investigators that the FBI exhibits section, which constructs such things as crime scene reproductions for trials, built and installed two sets of valances in the living room of his Bethesda, Md., apartment.

But he said he didn't know the FBI was doing the work until it was done. He vowed to find out what the valances cost and pay for them.

The valances are rigid, boxlike frames running across the top of windows to complement draperies and conceal the drapery rods.

FBI spokesmen said they could not estimate the cost of the valances. But based on a description of the valances and prices quoted by a major Washington department store, a conservative estimate would be $70 to $100.

Federal law makes it a crime for a government employee to convert government property to personal use. If such property is worth less than $100, the crime is a misdemeanor punishable by as much as a year in prison and a $1,000 fine. If the goods are worth $100 or more, the offense is a felony punishable by as much as 10 years in prison.

Legislation Fails To Clear Emergency Services Question

ACCREDITED SERVICE — Jack Mader and Rick Norris of the Mader Funeral Home show off their fully-accredited emergency vehicle and some of its equipment. Mader purchased the vehicle July 7, converted it themselves, and had it in service July 20. Besides regular squad vehicles, the Wellman Funeral Home has the only other accredited emergency ambulance in Pickaway County.

With one outstanding exception, Pickaway County should not be tagged with any hardships under a new Ohio law that defines and refines Emergency Medical Technicians.

While local officials don't plan to "ignore" the law, they are not eager to prosecute rescue personnel who work to save lives even though they may not

Rain May Cut Down Fair Gate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The chance of rain in the forecast for the Columbus area today brought concern that foul weather would continue to cut attendance figures at the Ohio State Fair.

By Tuesday, the millionth visitor had passed through the gates. She was 12-year-old Julie Market of Columbus.

But for the first six days of the fair, attendance was down slightly from last year's 1,182,062. Through Tuesday, 1,152,112 persons had visited the fair.

The attendance on Tuesday was 164,941, down from the 185,278 persons who visited the fairgrounds on the same date in 1975.

The fair runs six more days through Labor Day.

Activities today opened with an open class Shropshire sheep show in the sheep arena, with an open class wool show in the sheep barn and a horse show in the coliseum.

Junior fair dairy goat judging in the dairy cattle barn followed, with the junior breeding beef show in the beef arena and open class Jersey and Guernsey show in the Cooper Arena.

Open class Santa Gertrudis and open class Columbia Sheep shows also were scheduled.

quality under its provisions. And, while no one will comment, it is generally understood that a "hands-off" policy will be in effect, at least until mid-September when the Ohio House is expected to clarify a controversial EMT eligibility clause currently booted back and forth between the Ohio Board of Education and the Board of Regents.

Then, that portion of Pickaway County surrounding Deer Creek State Park could be without any immediate emergency medical protection and may be forced to rely on "good samaritan" funeral home ambulance personnel who run the risk of being arrested.

Amended Substitute House Bill 832, which became effective this morning, is actually a five-pronged law designed to upgrade emergency medical service.

It established the capacity of government subdivisions to contract for emergency medical services and form joint ambulance districts; establishes training and certification criteria for emergency medical technicians - ambulance with the Board of Education as the certifying body; provides for a program and training criteria certified by the Board of Regents for EMT paramedics; provides extended immunity from liability for emergency services performed by professionals in communication with paramedics; and authorizes a one-year "grandfather" clause designed to maintain service while upgrading training.

Current problems began as a rift between the Board of Education and Regents, an apparent difference of opinion concerning training criteria for EMTers who want to become paramedics and have developed into

John Adkins Heads County Leukemia Society Campaign

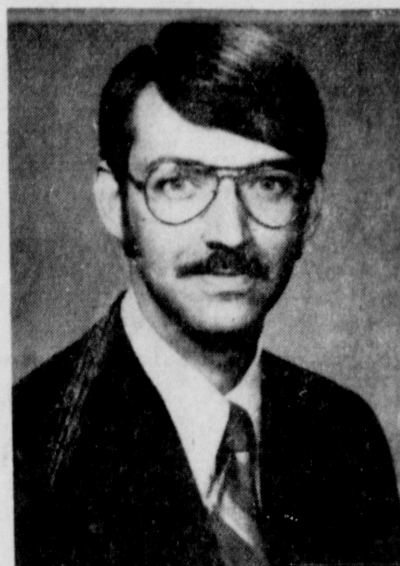

Mrs. H. Richard P. Niehoff, president of the Central Ohio Chapter of the Leukemia Society of America, Inc., has announced the appointment of John R. Adkins to serve as 1976-1977 Pickaway County Chairman.

Adkins was further honored for his years of service to the Leukemia Society by being elected to a two-year term on the Board of the Central Ohio Chapter of the Leukemia Society of America, Inc.

Adkins is an attorney with offices at 137 E. Main St., in Circleville. He resides at 144 Montclair Ave. with his wife, Diane, and children, Shannon and Kirsten.

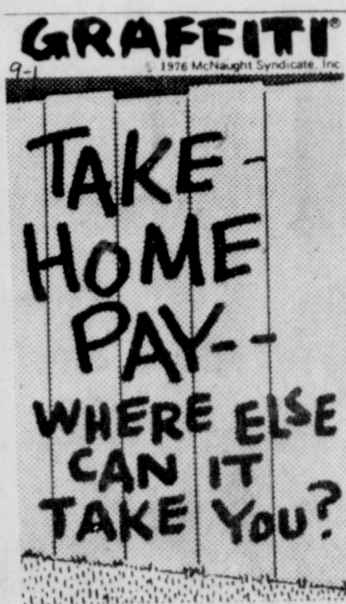

The Leukemia Society is currently recruiting volunteers for the annual door-to-door residential drive to be held during the month of September.

"If you have not been called to serve as a residential volunteer, do call 477-1216 to volunteer in the fight against leukemia," Adkins said. "In the past, Pickaway County has responded

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices headed up today in early trading, continuing recent gains into a fourth session.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks which has advanced more than 13 points since Friday was up almost a point shortly after the opening bell.

Advancing stocks held a narrow lead over declines on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers have attributed much of the market's moderate rise this week to an apparent easing of inflationary pressure in the economy, specifically the rollback of several price increases planned by steelmakers and some of their customers, and a 4 per cent drop in farm prices last month.

But they point out that the battle against inflation is being waged at the expense of economic growth. Statistics released by the government this week continue to indicate that a pause has developed in the nation's economic recovery. On Tuesday, it was reported that durable goods orders and new factory orders in July fell from June levels.

Early prices of some widely watched stocks included American Telephone & Telegraph, up 1/8 to 59 1/2; U.S. Steel, down 1/4 to 47 1/2; and General Motors, off 1/4 to 67 1/2.

On Tuesday, the stock market recorded a moderate rise, closing at 973.74, up 4.82 for the day.

Teays Valley Board Prepares For School

The Teays Valley school board met in special session Monday evening to make final plans for the opening of school.

The board approved the employment of two non-certified personnel at Ashville Elementary. Hired were Mrs. Jill Reese, secretary and Mrs. Rose Rosee, cafeteria worker.

Three certified teachers were hired to fill vacancies. Miss Carla Brooks, an Ohio State University graduate, with a masters from Xavier University, will teach high school English and psychology. She has eight years of experience. A supplementary contract was also approved for Miss Brooks as yearbook advisor.

Also hired were Mrs. Susan Payton for high school EMR. She is a graduate from Ohio Dominican College, and has no experience. Mrs. Debora Fowler, a Miami University graduate was employed as half time kindergarten teacher at Walnut Township Elementary. Mrs. Fowler has no experience.

Three teachers were granted professional leaves of absence to attend workshops in their fields.

The projected enrollment of the kindergartens was discussed, and additional sections to the three elementary schools were approved. To accommodate the changes, two teachers were changed from half to full days, and an extra teacher was hired.

The board adopted the resolution that the school handbooks comply with board policies for the upcoming school term.

Orlan Cooper was instructed to seek a conference with the county engineer and others with regard to the load limit signs at bridges, and how those relate to bus transportation.

No Dams Inspected After 1972 Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four years after hundreds of persons died when two dams collapsed, not a single dam has been inspected for safety under a law rushed through Congress in response to the disasters.

The inspection program remains unfunded, basically because of disagreement over who should inspect or pay for the inspections of the more than 49,000 nonfederal dams covered by the law.

Congress hasn't appropriated any money to pay for federal inspections, the White House hasn't asked for any such money and the states say they can't afford to pay for the inspections.

Like the two dams that prompted enactment of the federal law, these nonfederal dams were built by states, local governments and private companies. The Army Corps of Engineers has estimated that it would cost $73.5 million to inspect the dams.

Testifying before a House subcommittee Tuesday, Brig. Gen. Drake Wilson of the Army Corps of Engineers said "no inspections have been performed due to limited funding."

Wilson later said in an interview that the Army engineers had been given funds to compile an inventory of the dams after the law was passed and signed in August 1972. But, he said, the White House then decided the inspections should be a state, not a federal function.

He also said that a majority of states indicated that they should conduct the inspections, but that a number also said they could not pay for the safety checks without federal aid.

The law was enacted in 1972 within months of the Buffalo Creek, W. Va., and Rapid City, S.D., disasters. More than 320 were killed and property damage was estimated at $165 million in the two cases.

The Army's inventory of dams to be inspected, along with the corps' recommendations as to how to set up and who should pay for the inspection program, were sent to the secretary of the army in May 1975.

An Army spokesman said the Army approved the plan and legislation to put it into effect in December 1975. Wilson said they call for the states to conduct inspections of "the great bulk of privately owned dams," following standards provided by the corps. "We indicated the states" would pay the cost of the safety checks, Wilson said.

In March 1976, almost a year after the report went to the Army secretary for approval and almost four years after the law was passed, legislation to put it into effect was sent to the White House Office of Management and Budget for its approval.

The OMB still is reviewing it, but a spokesman says the legislative recommendations that finally could implement the law should be on their way to Congress "before long."

"get well" clinic for low-income senior citizens in the county.

The program was presented by Vera Sanders, who said the clinic would be operated in conjunction with the Multi-Service Center.

The 90 per cent federal and 10 per cent local funds would be used to equip and staff the center, a preventive medical clinic designed to check blood pressure and conduct other simple examinations.

The clinic would be conducted by a registered nurse, who would be employed by the Board of Health.

Board members learned that the mass immunization clinic against New Jersey Flu would be held sometime in October. Pickaway County will be placed between Columbus and Cleveland for loan of the jet injector guns.

But, in the event the program is ordered earlier, Board members okayed the purchase of 4,000 additional syringes to affect manual implementation of the program.

In other matters, the Board okayed the purchase of cardex files to hold a registry of tuberculosis patients in the county and purchased a Physician Drug Reference book for use by the health nurses.

Jim Kerr, an employee of the Ohio Department of Health, told board members that his seven-year survey of soils in Pickaway County had been completed.

Kerr estimates that his department conducted about 1,000 soil interpretations during the course of the survey, and completed soil survey maps that are on display at the Division of Land and Soil office.

Board members also announced that their policy of soliciting $1 donations for material and supplies used in immunization clinics would go into affect today.

The donation is not mandatory, they said, and is not used to purchase vaccine.

The next board meeting will be Tuesday, Sept. 28, at 8 p.m.

Members present Tuesday were Health Commissioner Dr. Frank Moore, President Charles McCray, and Bonnie Hildenbrand, Dr. Paul Fenstermaker, Ned Reichelderfer, and Dick Christensen.

Dayton Sets Integration Via Busing

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The City of Dayton plans to use the power of prayer and education to prepare for the implementation Thursday of Ohio's first court-ordered busing program.

Over 70 congregations around the city are participating in a 24-hour prayer vigil for peace which will finish as school buses roll out of their garages Thursday to pick up the first of the students who will be transported as part of the plan ordered by U.S. District Court here.

After attending one of the four churches chosen as vigil sites, students and parents will go to open houses at the 37 elementary schools and four high schools which will be involved in the desegregation plan, which calls for more than 18,421 of the district's 41,928 students to be bused. The district is 48.3 per cent black.

Under the plan, a school from the predominantly black west side of the city will be paired with a school from the predominantly white east side and their populations will be mixed to achieve close to 52 per cent white and 48 per cent black, with a maximum of 15 per cent variance.

During the first day of busing Thursday, grades 1 to 5 and 9 and 10 will attend school and then on Friday grades 6 to 8 and 11 and 12 go to school. The highest two grades are not subject to the plan.

Pastor Named To Pontious UM Church

The Rev. Carl R. Butterbaugh, pastor of the Greenwood United Methodist Church, Marion, since 1973, has been appointed to serve as minister of the Pontious United Methodist Church.

The appointment, announced today by the United Methodist Church offices in Columbus, will become effective Sept. 15, according to the Rev. Dr. Clyde Pinnell, superintendent of the Columbus South District.

Mr. Butterbaugh, a native of Ross County, is a graduate of Otterbein College and became an elder in the Evangelical United Brethren ministry in 1947. From 1963 to 1972 he was pastor of the Washington Avenue Church, Columbus, then an EUB church.

He will succeed the Rev. Frank Ferguson who is entering business on a full-time basis.

Gunman Indicted

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Cuyahoga County Grand Jury handed down an indictment for kidnapping, extortion, possession of criminal tools and felonious assault Tuesday against Ashby G. Leach, the Vietnam war veteran who held 13 persons hostage last Thursday in the Terminal Tower offices of the Chessie System, Inc.

The charges against Leach, 30, of Huntington, W. Va., include 13 counts of kidnapping and one count of each of the other charges.

Leach struck one hostage during the nine-hour siege and fired a .25 caliber semiautomatic pistol twice—once at a radio and once at a chandelier, police said.

Police said he also had a sawed-off shotgun.

The siege ended shortly before 7 p.m. when Leach surrendered after seeing his demands concerning Chessie's policy towards G.I. benefits to Vietnam veterans broadcast on ABC network news.

Leach was being held in Cuyahoga County Jail in lieu of $450,000 bond.

Ruth Selected General Counsel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Watergate Special Prosecutor Henry S. Ruth has been named general counsel for the Health and Retirement Funds of the United Mine Workers.

Funds Chairman Harry Huger announced the appointment Tuesday. He said Ruth will oversee trial and appellate litigation and advise the trustees on implementation of the funds' health and pension plans.

Ruth succeeded Leon Jaworski as head of the Watergate Special Prosecution Force in 1973. Since leaving that post last year, he has served as principal research associate with the Urban Institute.

Legislation Fails . . .

strict enforcement of the Grandfather clause.

While the majority of the county will not be at all affected, the area around Deer Creek joins many other sections across the state now in limbo.

The Deer Creek Park area (including Mt. Sterling, New Holland, Atlanta, and adjacent rural areas) can legally no longer rely on ambulances from the Porter Funeral Home in Mt. Sterling or the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home in New Holland for emergency service.

Both Max Porter and Roger Kirkpatrick say they don't have the proper equipment or qualified technicians to meet standards set by the new law, and don't expect to get them.

And, like many ambulance operators in other counties, they are unclear on the statutes because they have not seen them.

Porter, owner of the Porter Funeral Home, believes he can still operate as an ambulance service if he doesn't represent the service as an EMT unit.

Kirkpatrick, who operates funeral homes in Washington C.H. and New Holland, says he will continue to respond to ambulance requests, but without red light and siren.

And, while neither likes the feel of the knife at their throats, they plan to react to a moral obligation and not let anyone die in the street.

Porter, in fact, is trying to interest Mt. Sterling residents in a volunteer emergency medical service. The Madison County Joint Ambulance Service will provide the vehicle, he said, if town residents volunteer to complete the required training and man it.

But that is not an immediate solution.

A similar situation exists in Darbyville, a tiny village in the north central part of the county that finds itself without emergency service.

It's strictly an administrative problem, according to Mayor Marietta Knece, but a problem nonetheless.

For some reason, the village never received the services of the Scioto Twp. Emergency Squad, even though it is covered for fires. Residents summon ambulances to emergencies, vehicles that come from Circleville or Mt. Sterling.

The rest of the county, both villages and rural areas, are covered by an excellent fleet of emergency medical teams approved private ambulances.

The seven squads are the 80-member Circleville Emergency Medical Team, the Harrisburg Squad, Scioto Twp. Squad, Kingston Squad, Tarlton Squad, Harrison Twp. Squad, and the Bloom Twp. Squad from Fairfield County.

Both firms saw the new law coming, and had some soul-searching moments before deciding to sink time and money into the service.

"We decided that we can't get out of it (emergency service)," Wellman said, "and decided that if we had to do it, we had to do it right."

Mader, like Wellman, sees the need for additional emergency units. "If people call on us, we plan to serve them," he said.

But neither man asserts competition with the volunteer emergency service. They are called out by private citizens, and only summoned to traffic and industrial accidents by local law enforcement agencies if the EMT is unavailable.

Jack Wise of the Defenbaugh-Wise Funeral Home in Circleville does not have a qualified emergency vehicle or qualified personnel.

"Defenbaugh-Wise hasn't had any emergencies because they are not an emergency service, and have not been for some time," Wise said.

However, Defenbaugh-Wise will still respond to hospital transfers.

John Adkins, Circleville solicitor and counsel for the Ohio Association of Emergency Medical Services, is currently trapped in the middle of the issue.

He's the man who must decide whether to prosecute violators on the misdemeanor charges.

Adkins likes the prospect of the proposed clarifying legislation, and hopes it will serve to carry out the intent of the law.

Basically, it's a good law, he feels, one that will upgrade emergency services across the state.

But he is unsure on its initial effect.

Questions concerning the prosecution of offenders, regardless of their intent; possible civil suits brought against unqualified ambulance personnel; possible loss of insurance coverage for ambulance services; possible retraining programs for EMTs who want to become paramedics or those who did not receive full instruction by today; still remain in doubt.

Too Much Automation?

Compared to Grandmother's era, the modern home is an automation dream. But according to many industry designers who are working on the home of the future, the housewife hasn't seen anything yet!

While it is true the modern home is a mass of switches, pushbuttons and appliances all designed to eliminate physical labor, the urban home of the future will be something like a fortress from which one need never step.

Grocery shopping will be accomplished with television screens and automatic bank charges. Perfected robots will perform the remaining manual chores.

Monorails and heliport landing strips may connect buildings in the city of the future, enabling inhabitants to travel from one part of the city to another without touching ground level.

In their zeal to transform the home into an electronic computer center with the kitchen resembling the outpost of a missile guidance system, design engineers may be overlooking one factor. The housewife.

There are not many homemakers, old-fashioned or otherwise who feel at home around a mass of flashing lights and electronic wizardry. Perhaps the housewife of the future will be different. Don't count on it.

Healthier Sex

By JIM BISHOP

It has always puzzled me that humans want to live a long, long time. Life is a repetitious movie, more laden with failures than successes. We waste the first 20 years growing and becoming educated; the next 20 are a maniacal struggle for success; the third 20 are spent trying to prevent old age.

The final 20 — assuming that there is a final 20 — are an arithmetical victory. We grow old having no friends because we outlived them. The sports page of the octogenarians is the obituary column.

Old people love medical articles, like, "How to Have Fun with Your Arthritis"; "Sex Life After Your Heart Attack"; "Dying Can Be Educational"; and "How to Take Your Oxygen Tank on a Mountain Hike."

I have been thumbing through a summer book called "How Long Will I Live?" by Lawrence Galton. Larry has been writing health and medicine for a couple of hundred years. In the book he points out that nine out of every 10 men admit they would marry the same women, but three out of every four females shout a thunderous, "No way!"

In truth, if the Equal Rights Amendment is to be the law of the land, it will have to do something for men. They work harder; they die sooner. Right now, there are 5.5 million more women alive in the U.S. than men.

Widows outnumber widowers 3-to-1. The women, by devious and delightful means, kill off the men. In the first year of life, 25 per cent more males die than females. In the 70s, it is 35.7 per thousand for the ladies, 60.5 for the men.

Galton, who is prepared to drop all men down the drain, says the male addiction to sudden death also applies to rats, mice, pigs and other higher animals. A girl dog will live longer than a mutt.

Men, take heart. You are five to 20 times more vulnerable to heart disease in middle age than your ladies. Only in the field of cancer do the women draw abreast - excuse the expression - of the men. Females have a slightly greater risk of cancer until they reach age 65. At that point, the sexes are equal. It may be the only way in which men get a fair shake.

Lung cancer hits men four and a half times as frequently as women. However, some of the women have learned to inhale cigarettes all the way - which means that blue smoke emerges from the toes. This will equal the danger in time. When my wife smokes, our dog coughs.

Pneumonia and influenza hit both sexes equally hard. Only 33 per 1,000 persons douse their lights with these diseases. Years ago, tuberculosis brought a lot of young people to a bad end. Today, it is a rarity - five per 1,000 deaths for males, two per 1,000 for girls. There is a morbid interest among Americans in assessing how one is going to fly off into the Great Perhaps. Men and women spend fortunes rushing off to doctors to find out what the odds are that they may live one more year.

The doctor, of course, doesn't know. He isn't God. He makes an intelligent guess and rushes off with your money to another doctor to find out if he is going to last one more year.

Most men feel that women are poor drivers. The chances that a male will die in an accident are 61 per thousand population; for females, 36 per thousand. After the age of 65, women stand a better chance of dying of an accident, but it's not in an automobile. In a bubble bath, they fall on their heads.

As you know, the female hormone is

Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Fears are rising among product liability insurers and their clients that they are being presented with much the same situation they maintain is responsible for the high cost of medical malpractice insurance.

That situation, they say, is one in which the social and legal systems stretch the limits of manufacturers' responsibilities, and permit settlements of a size unknown just a few years ago.

Insurance industry officials say the consequences are potentially enormous and include these possibilities: —That some insurers might be forced out of business or, at least, compelled to limit greatly the amount of coverage offered.

—That some smaller manufacturers might be forced to go without product liability insurance, thereby running the risk of having ruinous claims made against them directly.

—That prices for some products might be forced higher to cover the costs of insurance and claims.

—That companies will be reluctant to develop new products, thus slowing the innovation process that often raises productivity and serves to keep prices more stable than otherwise they might be.

The entire property-liability insurance industry, of which product liability insurance is a part, has had two disastrous years in a row in 1974 and 1975. In the former it suffered an underwriting loss of $2.6 billion. Last year the deficit jumped to $4.5 billion.

Reducing these losses, and perhaps permitting some insurers to remain in business, has been a relatively improved experience in the stock market since late in 1974. Nevertheless, the industry maintains that many insurers have gone out of business.

Industry officials now say that some manufacturers might join the insurers in going out of business.

T. Lawrence Jones, president of the American Insurance Association, estimates that hundreds and even thousands of small manufacturers and wholesalers may become non-competitive if a solution isn't developed.

Loeb, Rhoades & Co., the investment banker, comments that several large chemical companies now face 100 or more cases in federal courts. "Target settlements begin at $200 million, putting claims today for $10,000-$25,000 in the 'small-time' category," it said.

It names medical and electronic device manufacturers, sporting goods makers, the machine tool industry and even the manufacturers of machine safety equipment as among those also affected.

Ironically, some of the more financially stable and reliable manufacturers who have a large number of machines in the market place have become the poorer insurance risks, according to the Loeb, Rhoades analysis.

Some manufacturers, it notes, made machinery and equipment that has lasted 30 or 40 years. Now they find themselves the subject of suits because of a change in safety laws, it commented.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My husband and I and our two grown boys are sun worshippers. We constantly hear about the dangers of cancer of the skin from the sun. So far, none of us has been dissuaded from enjoying the sun. Just how dangerous is this pastime?

Mrs. M.W., Nev.

Dear Mrs. W.:

Dermatologists (specialists in skin diseases) generally acknowledge that there seems to be a relationship between overexposure to sunlight and certain types of skin cancer.

Why some people should be more susceptible than others is not known. It may be related to the amount of protective pigment that lies in the skin of some people.

A recent survey showed that there were more than 250,000 new cases of skin cancer during the last year. Some of these may be attributed to a very special series of circumstances.

About 25 years ago, X-ray radiation was used in some cases of acne and for excess hair on the face, and even to reduce the amount of sweating caused by the glands in the armpits.

Unfortunately, we are today paying a penalty for the overuse of X-ray therapy during that period. It is believed that many of the reported cancers of the skin can be attributed to that radiation rather than to sunlight.

Perhaps it is a combination of both sunlight and X-ray radiation that may be a factor. There may even be a relationship with the disturbances of the protective ozone layer between us and the sun.

At any rate, speculation is not nearly as important as following the advice of the doctors who believe that since skin cancers can be caused by too much exposure to sun, it would be wise for your family to do your sunbathing with moderation.

A lot of people in our community use water softeners. I've been holding out because I've heard that soft water may be dangerous to health. Please clarify.

Mrs. J.U.L., Penn.

Dear Mrs. L.:

Public Health officials have given a great deal of concentrated thought and research to this problem.

In general, there seems to be an attitude that soft water may be more dangerous to the heart and vascular system than hard water.

Yet there are so many other factors involved in the equation of health and disease that no one should become terrified because they are drinking one type of water or another.

An additional consideration deserves mention. Water softeners seem to increase the amount of sodium in the water. For those people who are on a restricted sodium diet, converting to soft water may be unwise. If sodium retention is a medical problem in your family, it should be considered by you and your doctor before making the purchase.

Dutch Royalty Faces Government Scrutiny

By NEL SLIS
Associated Press Writer

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (AP) — The Dutch government plans laws to bring the leading members of the royal family under government control as a result of Prince Bernhard's involvement in the Lockheed scandal.

Premier Joop den Uyl told Parliament Monday that his cabinet would submit a bill giving the government responsibility for and the right of supervision over public activities of the royal family. He said the legislation would establish which royal figures will "particularly have to take into account the interests of the state."

The constitution spells out the responsibility of the government for only one member of the royal family, the reigning monarch. For this reason and also because of Bernhard's popularity and his success as a promoter of Dutch business, Queen Juliana's 65-year-old husband served in several government posts and on a number of corporate boards with little or no supervision from the government.

Bernhard's career as a wheeler-dealer undoubtedly is over. But the government apparently wants to make certain that after Crown Princess Beatrix succeeds her mother on the throne, her husband doesn't emulate his father-in-law.

Informed sources said the government has not decided to what extent the prince will continue to accompany the queen in the performance of her public duties. But den Uyl said his government would not object to Bernhard's continuing to attend the Council of State, an honorary right he has rarely exercised. Members of the royal house may attend the council's sessions but are not permitted to vote with it. The council advises the queen, but its advice is not binding.

Parliament approved the government's handling of the Lockheed investigation and with only two dissenting votes endorsed its decision not to make a criminal investigation into Bernhard's conduct. The center-left coalition government said it shied away from criminal prosecution of the prince because of the "serious consequences" that would have for the queen as chief of state.

Bernhard resigned from his government and business posts last week after an investigating commission reported on its inquiry into allegations that the American aircraft company paid him $1.1 million to promote the sale of its planes to the Dutch government.

The commission said it could find no concrete evidence that Bernhard had received the money, but it said it also could not say that he had not gotten it. The three-man panel said the prince solicited a commission on the firm's sales to the Dutch air force, and although this deal fell through, his relationship with Lockheed had been "extremely imprudent and unwise."

CBers Chase Truck--Oops!

GLENN'S FERRY, Idaho (AP) — Dirty Don and his CB buddies chased a pickup truck down the interstate because the pickup sideswiped Don and the guy wasn't going to get away with that.

The only trouble was that the CBers followed the wrong truck.

A wild scramble over 70 miles of Interstate 80 in Southwest Idaho ended Monday night when Tom Whitehead, identified only as being from Washington, convinced officers he didn't hit Dirty Don's truck near Glens Ferry.

Whitehead, his wife, two daughters and a nephew were returning from an Arizona vacation when they became the object of the 75-mile-per-hour chase by what Boise County Deputy Sheriff Al Lewis described as "two or three cars and two big trucks."

"They had him boxed in and they were trying to run him off the road to stop him. The farther he went, the bigger criminal he was."

Lewis said the vehicles responded to Don's citizens band radio appeals for help.

Lewis and Elmore County Deputy Muril Hillman finally halted Whitehead near Mountain Home after he fled the pack for 55 miles west on 180, made a U-turn and returned 15 miles east.

After convincing Whitehead not to press charges against the eager CBers, the officers sent him on his way.

"Don apologized to Whitehead," Lewis said. "He had just been picking on the wrong man."

Debate Ground Rules Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford and Jimmy Carter are sending their rival negotiators back to work to draft ground rules for the presidential campaign debates both candidates seek.

The major issue to be settled as negotiators return to work today apparently is the question of what the candidates will debate.

Republican Ford and Democrat Carter both have proposed that their personal campaign specialties be staked out as topics for the first debate, likely to be conducted during the third week of September.

Those proposals, like the issues of the number, duration and timing of the debates, may yield to compromise in order to get the show on before the national television audience.

Ford summoned his two chief negotiators on debate arrangements to a Tuesday night White House meeting to give them final instructions.

He met with Dean Burch, a Washington lawyer and former White House aide, and former Deputy Atty. Gen. William Ruckelshaus, on the debate situation, but his spokesman would not discuss their plans.

Carter already has said that the initial negotiating session last Thursday produced a tentative plan for a series of three debates, each 75 minutes long, beginning the third week in this month.

Each candidate has three representatives in the debate talks, being conducted by officials of the League of Women Voters, the group that has offered to sponsor the joint appearances.

All sides agreed after the first meeting that they would not disclose the terms under discussion until there was a final agreement on debates and the rules to be followed.

"We intend to keep our part of the bargain," said White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen, noting pointedly that Carter disclosed what he said were tentative terms. Nessen insisted no agreement had been reached, but said there had been progress in the talks.

The League of Women Voters got clearance on Monday from the Federal Election Commission to sponsor and finance the debates, which could cost $150,000.

But there remained a possibility that independent candidate Eugene J. McCarthy or former Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, candidate of the American Independent party, might go to court in an effort to block televised debates matching only Ford and Carter.

Under current law, television and radio networks could broadcast campaign debates between the major party candidates, without being required to provide equal time to minor candidates, so long as the debates were independently staged and were covered as news events.

While the debate talks were resumed, Carter returned to Plains, Ga., after a day of campaigning in Washington and New York.

In Washington, the presidents of 109 AFL-CIO unions promised a massive voter registration and turnout campaign in behalf of the Democratic ticket. Carter also met Tuesday with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who said he would actively campaign for the Carter ticket.

Carter met privately with the National Council of Catholic Bishops, and got a cooler reception there because he has declined to support a constitutional amendment to forbid abortion.

Carter also renewed his proposal that the terms of chairmen of the Federal Reserve Board coincide with those of presidents. The board governs the nation's money supply, and its members are appointed to 14-year terms, with one member designated chairman.

While the proposal is one Carter made repeatedly during the presidential primary campaign, Treasury Secretary William E. Simon issued a quick rebuttal to Carter's renewed suggestions.

Simon's statement, issued through the Ford campaign committee, said, "While Mr. Carter's words are typically vague and general, they represent nothing less than a thinly disguised plan to politicize the nation's monetary system."

Both candidates for vice president were campaigning Tuesday, with Sen. Walter Mondale meeting Democratic officials in California and Sen. Bob Dole arguing in Delaware that the Republican party was not involved in Watergate.

Mondale, Carter's running mate, met Tuesday with California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. and Brown renewed his promise to campaign for the Democratic ticket in the nation's most populous state.

Mondale met with Brown for 30 minutes in the governor's office, emerging to say he was "very, very heartened by the fact we have the most unified campaign in many, many years here in California under Gov. Brown's leadership."

Brown, the last of the Democratic presidential contenders to drop his campaign and endorse Carter, praised the nominee in a brief news conference with Mondale, saying, "I think that Jimmy Carter has a very good understanding of the environment. I think he has a strong sense that government has got to keep its spending down. He has the ability to commit this country to full employment. All these things are very, very necessary."

Meanwhile, Dole said the Watergate scandal cannot be used as a legitimate campaign issue against the Ford-Dole ticket because neither man had any role in it.

"It's a fact — the Republican party was not involved, Gerald Ford was not involved," Dole said in Wilmington, Del.

Dole said that even though he was party chairman in 1972 at the time of the Watergate break-in and initial coverup, he did not feel that association would taint his current campaign.

"I'm not going to try to live it down, I wasn't involved in Watergate," Dole said.

Dole criticized the AFL-CIO endorsement of Carter and union president George Meany's criticism of the Republican platform, saying Meany does not speak for rank and file laborers.

Meanwhile, the Ford campaign in Washington announced that Lynn Nofziger, a key Ronald Reagan aide, is joining the President's staff.

Reagan, who narrowly lost his bid to become the GOP's nominee instead of Ford, has agreed to take part in a Republican National Committee closed circuit television fundraiser Oct. 7, a party spokesman said. But Ford campaign officials say they have had no indication that Reagan plans to campaign for Ford.

Auditor Distributes County Funds

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's office reported today public assistance in the amount of $40,773.82 was distributed to Pickaway County in July.

During July, public assistance in the amount of $37,524,489.07 was distributed to all 88 Ohio counties.

Of this amount, $29,117,348.10 went to help the counties cover the general relief and administration costs of their welfare operations, Ferguson said. The general relief subsidy is derived primarily from state and partially from county revenue.

Ferguson said the remaining $8,407,140.97 was reimbursement to the counties for administering and purchasing family and children services such as day care, family planning and marital counseling programs. Such revenue comes from both federal and state funds.

The distributions ranged from $8,353.54 to Preble County to $11,332,941 to Cuyahoga County.

Man On The March Again--In Reverse

ON HIGHWAY ONE, Calif. (AP) — At 81, Plennie L. Wingo is once again on the march. In reverse.

Wingo, the unchallenged world's backward-walking champion, is striding south while facing north on this scenic coastal highway. Today, he was about halfway between the towns of Cambria and Harmony, some 135 miles south of San Francisco, where he began his jaunt July 31.

"I've got my fast-walking shoes on, and I'm feeling just great," declared Wingo in a telephone interview from a roadside booth. He's bound for Santa Monica, about 400 miles from San Francisco. He expects to reach Santa Monica sometime in October.

"I'm having a good time, meeting good people and getting plenty of invitations to stay in people's homes," said the onetime restaurateur and meat market owner. "Everyone wants to help me."

Wingo, dapper in his suit, gray fedora and glasses equipped with rear-view mirrors, came out of retirement at the behest of Ripley's Believe It or Not, whose San Francisco museum has immortalized him in wax. The museum is paying his expenses on the trip.

Plennie L. Wingo strode backward into history in 1931-32, when he walked 8,000 miles from Santa Monica to Istanbul. That record has been declared permanent by the Guinness Book of World Records, which describes Wingo as "the greatest exponent of reverse pedestrianism."

In addition, he also claims the world record for speed backward-walking, having covered the 45 miles between the Boston and Providence, R.I., city halls in 12 1/2 hours back in 1931.

"Conditions have changed so much since 1931," Wingo said, explaining how he has to alter his route occasionally to avoid California's ubiquitous freeways. "There's so much traffic now."

Wingo is up at 5 a.m. each day and usually walks for eight hours. He stays in a hotel when he can't secure overnight lodging from a friendly native, and his wife meets him each weekend with a change of clothes.

"Take exercise and live clean," is the key to Wingo's good condition, he said. He trained six months for this trip and spends 20 minutes each morning doing loosening-up exercises.

Wingo said he took his first step backward 45 years ago after being challenged by one of his daughter's friends to dream up a stunt that had never been done before.

"Lindbergh had flown across the ocean, and flag poles were full of sitters at that time," he recalled. "Some man had pushed a peanut with his nose up Pike's Peak. I told them, out of the blue sky, that no one had ever walked around the world backward."

County Gets ADC Funds

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's office announced today the September distribution of $34,946,489 in Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) to 564,480 recipients in Ohio's 88 counties.

In Pickaway County, 1,130 residents shared in $72,052 ADC payments.

Ferguson said the amount does not include the weekly ADC auxiliary payments which will be made primarily to new recipients throughout the month.

The auxiliary payments in August totaling $2,040,725, coupled with the main August distribution of $34,990,781, boosted that month's total to $37,031,506.

Ferguson added that the ADC distribution does not reflect food stamp allowances to the recipients. The state welfare department distributes food stamps, and ADC payments to those recipients choosing to receive stamps are reduced accordingly.

Ferguson noted that the main September payment went to 1,514 less recipients than the one in August and decreased by $44,292 from the one last month.

ADC payments are made to families with one parent or one unemployed parent on the basis of family size and financial resources. The ADC program is funded primarily by federal and state governments.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Guy Wants Girls To Take The Lead

DEAR ABBY: I never could understand why it was considered improper for a girl to ask a guy for a date.

I'm a 21-year-old college man who would feel flattered if a girl let me know that she wanted to go out with me. I'm not a creep, and I get my share of dates, but I see nothing wrong with girls being on an equal basis with men when it comes to the dating game.

Why can't the girl be the aggressor if she so chooses? And why is it considered "wrong" for a girl to pursue a guy?

HIGHPOCKETS

DEAR HIGHPOCKETS: Where have you been? Plenty of girls ask guys out. (More girls ask guys "over" instead because there's no tab to pick up, which takes the pressure off both of them.)

And many girls ARE the aggressors and don't feel the need to apologize for it.

What this world needs is more up-front people who aren't ashamed to say, "I like you." It doesn't matter who says it first. Girls are people, and people shouldn't play games. They should express affection honestly, naturally and without embarrassment.

DEAR ABBY: For those who are shocked that a non-virgin bride wants to wear white at her wedding: What would they suggest? Tattletale gray? AMUSED IN MURRAY, KY.

DEAR AMUSED: Why not? And she could carry daisies. They don't tell.

DEAR ABBY: I know I'm not perfect when it comes to grammar and pronunciation, but I have this friend who is an absolute disgrace in that department.

She still says "Woolsworth" and I

Couple Planning November Rites

MISS MARY ISAAC

Miss Mary Isaac of Chillicothe and Gregory Moss of Kingston have selected Nov. 14 as the day for their wedding in Laurelville Church of God.

Miss Isaac, the daughter of Lincoln Isaac, 310 Ray Ave., and Mrs. Betty Isaac, 1249 Turner Drive, is employed as a surgical specialist by Dr. Carl Schowengerdt in Chillicothe.

Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Moss of Kingston. He is employed by the Circleville General Electric Lamp Plant.

must have corrected her a hundred times. Another mistake she has made for years is saying "Eximo Pie" instead of "Eskimo pie."

Abby, in a way you are a teacher, so I'm calling on you to take over my job.

Why do people insist on saying they had their dog "spaded," and a man has "prostrate" trouble, after being corrected a dozen or more times?

SICK OF TEACHING

DEAR SICK: Some people don't want to learn, and others are simply ineducable. Don't sweat it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO PERSEVERING IN LOUISVILLE: Perseverance isn't always the answer. I was recently informed that a young lover in Taiwan wrote over 700 letters in two years to his lady love. The romance ended when she fell in love with the postman.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A. Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope please.

No Fishing Worms For Governor's Lady

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The worms have turned away from Nebraska's first lady. The governor's wife says a summertime drought has dried up her personal supply of nightcrawlers for use as fishing bait.

"It's been so dry that you can't find them. I've had to resort to buying some," Pat Exon, wife of Gov. J.J. Exon, complained Monday. "I don't know where they're getting them from this summer, they must be imported."

Normally, Mrs. Exon gets all the worms she needs for her once-a-week fishing trips from her private worm garden in the fallout shelter of the governor's mansion.

She said she began cultivating the garden about three years ago because "time is so hard to come by that when I can get away, I don't have time to shop for bait."

"So I had Jim (the governor) make a box so I could raise them myself. Some of these babies take 18 months to mature," she says, "and the bigger the worm, the bigger the fish."

Mrs. Exon said she generally goes worm-hunting in her garden at night after it rains.

"Some might say it isn't fitting for a first lady to be poking around for worms, but the first ladies I know are those who do what's comfortable for them."

"I tried to reach Mary Anderson (wife of Minnesota Gov. Wendell Anderson) the other day and she was out pounding nails on an old farm they've bought," she said. The worm project is a few doors down from the public Bicentennial exhibit of dolls depicting Nebraska's 33 first ladies. Mrs. Exon admits that the garden "gets a little smelly."

She fishes from a 10-foot aluminum boat, an anniversary gift from her husband of 33 years. "I have a friend with a pickup truck. We're able to load the boat to haul it to the lake. Every summer, five of us gals take a week off to go fishing," she said.

One of her prize catches is a trout her husband proudly displays in a picture on state highway maps.

"They wanted this picture, and he hadn't caught anything by the time he had to make an appearance," Mrs. Exon said. "I told him not to worry, I'd get him one. I did."

Hart, suffering from cancer, is completing his third term.

The Michigan Democrat has been a leader of Senate liberals, but before the resolution was passed on Monday, two of the most conservative members of the Senate paid tribute to him.

Scattered Rainfall Arrives In East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Scattered showers and thundershowers were expected over much of the nation's eastern states today, while sunny or fair skies were predicted elsewhere.

Showers were forecast from Florida through the Gulf Coast states and northward across the mid-Mississippi Valley and the central Appalachians into the lower Great Lakes and New England.

The National Weather Service said it expected cool temperatures over the upper Great Lakes and warm readings

Blue Cross Hike Nixed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Insurance Supt. Harry V. Jump rejected today a proposed rate increase for Blue Cross in Lima because the insurer failed to make "a good faith effort to control costs."

Blue Cross of Southwest Ohio, which provides coverage for Lima, had requested monthly increases ranging from $1.50 to $1.70 for Medicare complementary contracts.

"After reviewing the record made at the public hearing in Lima," Jump said, "it is apparent that Blue Cross in Lima has not made a good faith effort to control costs."

The ruling was handed down under departmental rules and a new state law that requires health care insurers to attempt to keep a lid on costs of hospitals and other providers.

from Florida across the Gulf Coast region and also from the northern Rockies and the Pacific Northwest through the Intermountain region.

Hot temperatures were seen for parts of Oregon and northern California.

Showers and thundershowers were widespread early this morning over the Gulf Coast region and across Texas into the central high plains. A band of showers and thunderstorms was associated with a stationary front reaching through south central Nebraska into lower Michigan.

One very strong thunderstorm moved Tuesday evening through lower Michigan where three tornadoes were reported in the vicinity of Luther.

During the evening, more than four inches of rain fell within a couple of hours at the Dallas-Fort Worth airport, with some flash flooding.

Showers increased this morning over the lower and mid-Mississippi Valley and the lower Great Lakes region. A few thundershowers lingered in Arizona.

It was a clear and cool night over much of the mid and north Atlantic Coast states, with temperatures dipping into the 40s and 50s. Except for coastal cloudiness, clear skies were also general in the Pacific Coast states, the Intermountain region and the northern Rockies. There was considerable cloudiness elsewhere, with temperatures in the 70s over much of the Gulf Coast states.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 42 at Phillipsburg, Pa., and Laramie, Wyo., to 92 at Blythe, Calif.

Sylvia Wilkey, chairman of the Ladies Aid Society of the Church of Christ in Christian Union, announces that the ladies are planning to hold a holiday bake sale this Saturday beginning at 9 a.m. in front of Bob Francis Variety Store. This is located directly across the street from the local bank. The ladies of the group are renowned for their good food so what a grand opportunity to enrich your table during the Labor Day weekend.

Jeff Fullen and the beginning of school have a tough time being compatible. Over the years Jeff has suffered a variety of injuries just prior to the first day of school and this year is no exception because during the past week he was riding his bicycle, took a tumble and voila! a broken left hand. Jeff, the son of Steve and Onda Fullen, will enter 7th grade at the new Westfall Middle School.

Happy Birthday wishes were the order of the day recently for neighbor Lillian Hess who makes her home with ever active nonagenarian Bertha Porter. She was truly surprised when members of Mrs. Porter's family arrived with all the trimmings for a festive birthday party. Making it a happy time for Lillian were Herman and Garnet Porter, Art and Sue Dick and sons J.B., Eric and Mack all of the Five Points area, Brenda and Mindy Holbrook from Washington Court House, Joan Reid and son Bradley of near Darbyville and Harry Morris of Atlanta.

Some more happy news about neighbors comes from Harry and Emma Puffinbarger. While the youngsters will have the excitement of the first day of school, Harry and Emma will have the excitement of returning home after a number of weeks of being hospitalized and then at Marietta Place convalescing. They will have a "companion in residence" who has already arrived from Orlando, Fla. and we shall introduce her to you in a future column. Meanwhile, don't wait for introductions but go and visit Harry and Emma and welcome the newcomer to our town.

It is with heavy heart that we report to you that Hattie Anderson is in serious condition at Berger Hospital. Her daughter Frances Thompson along with Marvie baby and Dolly Thompson are keeping constant vigil. Also still in serious condition is Gene Hinton who is a patient at Mt. Carmel Hospital where he has been in intensive care since June. How we long to have these fine people regain better health.

Lisa Bailey of Grove City guested with her sister Debbie Easterday, Marc and Monica over the weekend while Papa Bill, Amy and yours truly had a nice time at Portland, Ind. We chatted briefly with Sonny and Jackie Hopper, area residents, who were attending the Tri-State Antique Engine Show too.

Papa Bill attends each year but it had been a few years since I had last gone and let me tell you I was astounded at the growth. It used to be that a person could easily see all there was in one day but not so anymore. The affair is held at the Jay County fairgrounds and it was truly covered with exhibitors not only of antique engines but antiques of all kinds. I was pleased as punch to obtain two Shirley Temple items that I had been searching for over a period of time.

Being a smidge of history buffs we enjoyed the historical rich Greenville area with all its Annie Oakley lore plus much more. And since Amy had never been to Fort Recovery we re-visited that historical area. They have an excellent museum though rather small and of course there are the forts and the stockade. Amy has a fairly decent appreciation of "olden days" history and has a real love for antiques and collectibles.

Other vacationers who made it back home just under the school starting wire are Gary and Sandy Wisecup and images Tracey and Brian, who were accompanied by Sandy's mother and sister Pat and Dee Dee Clark. They spent a week at Gatlinburg and the Smoky Mts. and also were in North Carolina and toured the Cherokee Indian Reservation.

Bob and Pat Metzger and pretty daughters Crystal and Lori had a day or two to rest up from a fabulous trip before starting school. They journeyed to Wayzata, Minn. for a few days with Bob's sister Kathryn and her husband Marlon Carter and they have two daughters Barbara and Diana. From this point they traveled westward to California enjoying the Badlands, Custer's State Park, Mt. Rushmore, Teton Mts. and so forth along the way. One of the high points of the vacation was spending time with friends Dick and Gloria Henson, Miles, Drew and Jerri at Las Vegas and also Don Henson. The Dick Henson family left our town about two years ago to settle in the West and Don has been there several years.

It was a family affair vacation at Indian Lake resort for Johnny and Doris Reynolds, Gertrude Schleich, Tim and J Anne Dewey of our territory, Minnie Recobs from Washington C.H., Roger and Marsha Clark and son Todd of Cridersville who all were there for a week. During that time Jack and Diana Morgan and youngsters Michele and Jack II from here drove up and spent a couple of days with the family. Coming down from DeWitt, Mich. were Karen (Mrs. Grady) Smalley and her three - Susie, John and Joe. The Smalley came on to Williamsport to spend more time with the Reynolds (her aunt and uncle) and her maternal grandmother Gertrude Schleich. The younger Smalley do not begin school until the Wednesday after Labor Day (read that all you kids around her and eat your heart out).

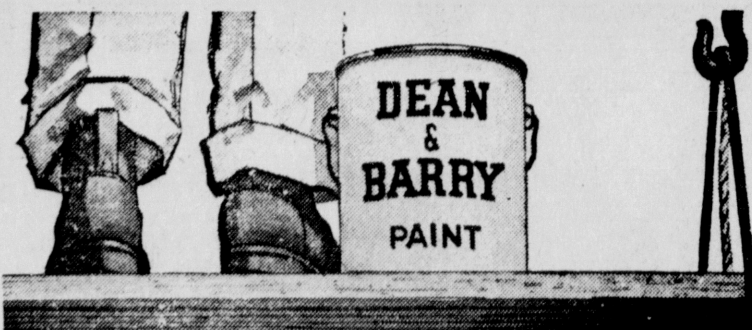

A meeting held last Tuesday evening concerning the purchase of the former Williamsport school grounds was not too productive since there are a number of legalities to be "ironed out" before too much planning is attempted. Therefore it was decided to tentatively plan a meeting for Sept. 28 at 8 p.m. in the Legion Hall at which time Priscilla Steele a HUD representative will be present to discuss the situation and answer questions. Please remember this is only a tentative arrangement until firm plans can be made with Ms. Steele. Soon as the confirmed date and time is set we will bring you the information. All representatives of organizations (civic, fraternal, social), churches and interested parties should attend the meeting.

Please send cards to Tom McCain who is a patient at University Hospital. Tom is bedfast and cards will surely make his day brighter. It takes such little effort.

I have a recipe to share that is delicious and adds pounds just reading it (but then doesn't all the good ones).
2 cans strawberry pie filling
1 can coconut
1 cup chopped nuts
1 box yellow cake mix (dry)
1 or 2 sticks oleo, sliced thin
In the order given place the pie filling, coconut, nuts, cake mix in a 13 x 9 pan, top with sliced thin oleo. Bake 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Cool and top with cool whip.

Be with you again next week, the Lord willing. Take care and have a safe Labor Day holiday.

Sign Firms Busy In Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — There are men who ride around this city at night, looking for dim spots in the brilliant landmarks of the gambling capital of the world.

In their trucks they carry long ladders, lots of wire and thousands of light bulbs to keep the huge and famous casino and hotel signs bright. These men are the electric sign company workers, laboring daily in one of the largest businesses in Las Vegas.

Each year sign companies pop thousands of light bulbs into a myriad of signs. At the same time they put up new signs, tear down old ones and in the process pump millions of dollars into the Clark County economy.

Officials estimate there are five million light bulbs in the town's signs. They are quick to point out that there also is nearly 100 miles of neon tubing mixed in there somewhere.

The hotels and casinos have for years strived to outdo their competitors when it comes to signs. To have the tallest, the widest, the heaviest, the brightest, the most expensive or whatever was the rage. Out of that competition came signs nearly 200 feet tall, with sophisticated lighting gear operated by computers. Gaudy and unique, they loom on the Las Vegas skyline.

The sign owners once advertized about how the electricity to run their signs would keep a housing tract in power for days.

Then came the energy crisis. The famous signs of Las Vegas were dimmed. The sign companies which maintained them cringed, and so did the casino owners when they saw revenues dropping drastically.

"When they turned them back on after the energy crisis, business began booming again," said Van Tuyl, of Heath Co., a firm which services a number of Las Vegas signs.

"Signs are very important to Las Vegas. Clark County depends on gambling for its major revenue

Local Woman Added To Dennison Staff

Dennison University is adding two language teachers to its staff this fall. Mrs. Josette F. Wilburn, Route 5, will begin instructing French at the school.

Mrs. Welburn, a member of Phi Beta Kappa, has taught at Ohio State University for several years. She holds an M.A. degree from OSU and a B.A. degree summa cum laude from the University of Minnesota.

The Spanish teacher joining the modern languages staff is Dr. Elias A. Romas as assistant professor. He received a B.S. degree from Union University and M.A. and Ph.D degree from the University of Missouri.

Business News

Big Bear Stores Company announced that it consummated on August 30, 1976 the sale of its assets to a group of private investors headed by Oppenheimer & Co. Big Bear stated that it will promptly mail to its shareholders a letter announcing the closing and advising the shareholders of the procedure to be followed in tendering their shares for redemption at the net cash price of $33 per share.

source. And for the gambling we depend on tourists. They come here to enjoy the carnival atmosphere of the city, that's what they are after and the bright lights contribute to it. Frankly, I don't think Las Vegas could survive without the signs."

Las Vegas has two distinct casino-hotel areas. There is famous "Glitter Gulch," named for its brightness at night in the downtown area and the newer, famed Strip, a loose string of luxurious hotels which have casinos inside.

Tuyl said the gulch sidewalk-to-roof lighting was designed to keep nighttime as bright as the southern Nevada days.

"It was made that way to keep people in the casinos around the clock," he said.

Times changed, and casinos began moving southward on the Strip. Practicality kept hotels from stringing millions of light bulbs on facades, so came the huge signs, which have become trademarks. Added to that in some cases are exterior lights, which illuminate the hotels, making them visible for miles around.

CONCERNED CITIZENS FOR BETTER PROTECTION HELP JOHN BOST

Keep Politics Out of the Sheriff's Office & Restore Respect & Order

I am your candidate for Pickaway County Sheriff in the fall election.

As your candidate for Sheriff I am running for the following reasons:

1. Give more protection and better patrolling of county and township roads for your same tax dollars.
2. Give quicker responses to your calls.
3. One law for rich and poor.
4. Work for more emergency squad service in areas with none.

My qualifications are:

1. 6½ years as a former Deputy Sheriff.
2. 1 year in the local Police Department.
3. Ohio Peace Officers Training Council.
4. FBI Seminar for White Collar Crime.
5. Experience in each division of the Sheriff's Department.

I AM NOT A CAREER POLITICIAN.

I am not in this race to build an empire, but to make sure all of us get better protection and the best possible service for our tax dollars.

November 2 is our chance to demonstrate that "Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer" can override the Political Machine, and launch a new era of efficiency and unity among other law enforcement agencies in Pickaway County. UNITED WE STAND; DIVIDED WE FALL.

Give me your active support during this campaign as well as your vote on November 2 and we will get the job done.

Thank you.

Your candidate for Pickaway County Sheriff

New Postal Subsidies Near OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress appears ready to give the Postal Service an extra $1 billion in subsidies without reimposing tight budgetary control over the deficit-ridden mail service.

Senate-House conferees agreed Monday on a bill that provides an extra $500 million for the Postal Service for each of the next two years. Agreement came after the House conferees yielded to the Senate and dropped a requirement that the Postal Service be brought back under the regular congressional appropriation process.

A 1970 Postal Reorganization Act abolished the old Post Office Department and established the Postal Service as a semi-independent agency to be operated much like a private corporation.

The reorganization was billed as a way to make mail service profitable, but the Postal Service has been plagued with losses. The compromise bill is intended to provide stop-gap financing pending recommendations of a study commission.

The compromise provides that the commission would be composed of seven voting members. It would have until next March 15, instead of Feb. 15, to submit its report.

The bill would bar postage rate increases or service cutbacks until Congress and the president receive the commission's recommendations.

Under the compromise, the postmaster general would continue to be appointed by the Postal Service's Board of Governors and would not be subject to Senate confirmation.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Search, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Higley, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Hartsock and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carman all came back to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Arnold for the evening.

A cook-out supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Duve, celebrated the birthday of her mother, Mrs. Wayne Delong. The other guests were Mr. Delong, their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Delong, Amy and Doug, their other son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones and sons, Craig and Fred Jr. and Steve and Jennifer Duve.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Minor vacationed last week at Rocky Fork Lake.

Mrs. Irwin Dresbach entertained her Bingo Club, Wednesday night at her home on Fourth Street. Prize winners were Mrs. Deanna Carroll, Mrs. Ed Evans, Mrs. David Large, Mrs. Tom Congrove; also playing were Mrs. William Moss Jr., Mrs. Dan Seifert, Mrs. Tom Snyder, Mrs. Tony Tartar and Mrs. Ronald Leadingham. The hostess next month is Mrs. Donald Beavers.

Mrs. Helen Fouche was a business visitor in Logan on Monday. Friday evening callers of Mrs. Fouche were her son, Carl and his son, Danny Fouche. Doyle Fouche called on his mother, Saturday evening.

Mrs. Ruth Jackson and two of her daughters, Mrs. Bonnie Fouche and Mrs. Charlene Erwin were in Urbana during the weekend to see her sister-in-law Mrs. Ruth Carroll and her house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Seward Jackson who were visiting from Florida. Shortly after returning home, Mrs. Jackson received word that her brother-in-law was being treated in the intensive care section of an Urbana Hospital. He had previously been hospitalized in Florida.

New Era In Regulations Opens

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new era begins today in state regulation of rates charged by public utilities for gas, electric and telephone service.

The 64-year-old Reconstruction Cost New (RCN) rate setting formula has been officially assigned to the dust bin, replaced by more easily understood original cost system.

The new law also calls for an independent "Consumer Counsel" to represent the public in rate increase hearings before the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio (PUCO). A $750 appropriation to launch the consumer office is expected to be acted on when the legislature returns from recess Sept. 14.

Beginning Oct. 1, PUCO, which has in the past taken up to 22 months to decide rate cases, will have to act within nine months or see the higher rate go into effect at the level requested by the utility.

If the commission reaches a decision on a lower rate between the nine-month cut-off and 18 months, the utility is required to refund the difference, plus interest to customers. If the PUCO ruling comes after 18 months, the lower rate would be put in force, but the company would not be required to make any refund.

Although relatively few consumers were familiar with the complex RCN formula, it went to the heart of the regulatory process. Original cost, while undeniably simpler, will not necessarily result in lower rates.

Both formulas are used to establish a utility's rate base—the value of plants and equipment for providing service. The rate base is used to determine a fair rate of return, that is whether a company's profits are adequate compensation for service rendered.

Under RCN, the PUCO calculated how much it would cost to rebuild or replace a company's capital assets at today's market value. An adjustment was then made for depreciation and a rate of return was set, usually equivalent to 6 to 8 per cent of the rate base.

Critics of RCN said it resulted in up to date prices on out of date properties.

The new plan saddles utilities with the original cost of construction or acquisition of their power plants and other facilities. It is expected to produce a smaller total valuation of utility property.

But there is a catch—the rate of return. PUCO, a political body with three commissioners appointed by the governor, will almost certainly be asked to plug in a higher rate of return. That would mean higher, not lower, rates for the consumer.

All cases filed after last Jan. 1 will be calculated under original cost. Many companies will probably refile cases in October to take advantage of the nine-month deadline.

The new rate law also provides PUCO with a number of tools aimed at assuring utility rates are fairly determined.

The commission now may consider the cost to the utility of a specific service and the adequacy of service to customers in deciding rate increase requests.

Utilities will need approval from PUCO before entering into long and short term financing. And PUCO is empowered to study utility management efficiency.

The gas, electric and telephone companies get something out of the deal as well.

For the first time, utilities will be able to receive compensation for enormous costs involved in their construction work while it is still in progress, a nuclear power plant for instance.

After a facility is 75 per cent complete, PUCO has the authority to give credit to a company for its costs, provided the credit does not exceed 20 per cent of the overall rate base.

PUCO also may allow electric companies to normalize accounting procedures to take advantage of federal tax breaks as long as the savings are used to meet expenses and not to increase profit.

Maddox On Ohio Ballot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox will appear on Ohio's general election ballot as the American Party of Ohio's candidate for president, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said today.

Maddox, who came to national attention by brandishing an axe handle against desegregation, is the nominee of the national American Independent Party.

Brown said Ohio's American Party decided earlier this year to affiliate with the AIP rather than the National American Party. That decision is binding on state officials, he said, so Maddox's name will appear rather than Tom Anderson, the NAP's presidential candidate.

Running for vice president on Maddox's ticket is William Dyke, the former mayor of Madison, Wis.

An early English historian and traveler found primitive log cabins still being erected between Zanesville and Columbus in 1840.

Player Agents Nix New NFL Contract

CHICAGO (AP) — National Football League player representatives have rejected the contract offer by team owners that sparked a fierce internal battle between their oft-controversial executive director and their union president.

The action Tuesday, after 11 hours of secret meetings, continues the rift between owners and players which in the last 2½ years has triggered one pre-season walk-out, one wildcat strike and harsh feelings on both sides.

"I honestly don't know where we go from here," said a disconsolate Dick Anderson, the injured safety for the Miami Dolphins who as president of the NFL Players Association had worked out the proposal with owners last week.

"Sometimes you win, sometimes you lose, sometimes you get rained out. The game will go on," Anderson said.

He and three other members of the seven-man NFLPA Executive Committee supported acceptance of the offer. They were opposed by Ed Garvey, executive director of the players' union who some members would like to see ousted.

"It was a plan I felt was good and tried to sell," said Anderson. "Yeah, I'm disappointed, I feel at this point it's the best offer we're going to get."

Garvey has withheld public comment regarding his personal feeling on the offer, but a source close to him said he feared acceptance would negate players' rights already won in the courts.

Nevertheless, at a brief news conference following the marathon session, Garvey said no single point of the 70-page offer was the decisive factor in rejection. Rather, he said, it was the package as a whole.

By a majority vote, the Executive Committee summoned each of the 28 NFL teams' representatives to grapple with the proposal and decide whether to submit it to a vote of all the NFLPA players.

But the question never got that far. After procedural haggling and a point-by-point debate, the representatives instead approved a motion "to table discussion" of the offer "pending further negotiations and clarifications."

Westfall Mustangs Set For 1976 Grid Campaign

THE 1976 WESTFALL MUSTANGS

By CRAIG ALLISON

Herald Staff Writer

"We are approaching the upcoming season with cautious optimism. We realize that we have the potential of producing a very respectable season. But we have to work for that, it's not going to be given to us. That has been our goal in practices so far."

With those words, Westfall High School head football coach John Glanton assesses the 1976 Mustang football campaign. Throughout summer drills, the Mustang camp contained 30 candidates, including 14 returning lettermen. Thirty players doesn't bother Glanton. "I'm concerned with the quality of the players that are trying out, not in how many I have," said the coach who is heading into his fifth season at the Westfall controls.

Aiding Glanton are assistant coaches Rick Sims and John Butz. Both have previous experience in Mustang country. Butz directs the efforts of the running corps and Sims shares the line coaching duties with Glanton.

Heading the list of lettermen returning to the Mustang stable is All-Scioto Valley Conference standout running back John Long. Helping Long with another season of the ball-toting are Tony Simon, Greg Damron, Rick Stillings, Randy Adams, Mike Hurley, Darren Metzger, and Jeff Mowery, all monogram winners.

Returning to the line are John Roberts, Eric Schleich, Carl Stritmatter, Mike Weidinger, Denny Finch, and Terry Williams, all of whom earned a varsity letter last season.

Coach Glanton sees his strong returning backfield as one of the strong points of the team. He said the Mustangs must work to overcome inexperience in the defensive backfield, and other than that, he feels the Mustangs should be in good shape, barring any injuries, when the fall wars start on Sept. 10. On that date, the Westfall eleven will travel to Mt. Sterling for an 8 p.m. kickoff against the Golden Eagles of Madison Plains.

When the Mustangs have the ball, Glanton will use a multiple T formation offense. They will concentrate mainly on the running game, but will also take to the air when the situation so dictates.

On the defensive side, the Westfall team will make use of a basic 50 defense, utilizing the monster back.

As for the high finishers in the SVC this year, Glanton is not making any solid predictions. "The league will have some good competition this year. There will be four or five real good teams. We're just going to take one day at a time, one game at a time. That's the only way you can work."

For the Westfall Mustang boosters, here is the complete schedule for the Westfall High School 1976 football season:

Sept. 10 at Madison Plains
Sept. 17 Jefferson Local Sept. 24 Paint Valley
Oct. 1 Zane Trace

Eastwick, Reds Edge Cards

By BOB GREENE

AP Sports Writer

Rawley Eastwick was rested. After all, he had a day off.

"I was ready for work," the Cincinnati Reds' relief ace said Tuesday. "I had last night off. I was getting itchy sitting around."

Eastwick hurled the final two innings, stopping St. Louis on one hit as the Reds defeated the Cardinals 6-5. "I didn't want to use him," Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson said, "but I didn't want to lose."

In other National League games Tuesday, Atlanta stopped Chicago 5-3, Pittsburgh blanked San Diego 3-0, Los Angeles defeated Montreal 5-1 and Houston edged Philadelphia 3-2.

The Reds rallied for five runs in the seventh inning to post their comeback behind victory and snap a three-game losing streak against St. Louis.

Cards starter Pete Falcone, 11-12, was sailing along with a no-hitter until Pete

Rose slapped a two-out single in the sixth. Ken Griffey walked and Joe Morgan singled to drive in Rose and narrow St. Louis' lead to 3-1.

Braves 5, Cubs 3
Right-hander Frank LaCorte hurled his second victory of the season as Atlanta topped the Chicago Cubs.

"LaCorte had the best changeup he has had all year," said Braves Manager Dave Bristol. "It's possible he could have finished the game."

Jerry Royster scored the Braves' first run when he led off the game with a single, advanced to third on Rod Gilbreath's hit and scored on a sacrifice fly by Rowland Office. Atlanta added three more runs in the sixth on Ken Henderson's two-run double and Jim Wynn's sacrifice fly to ensure the victory.

Pirates 3, Padres 0
Dave Parker drove in all three Pittsburgh runs with a homer and sacrifice fly and Jerry Reuss blanked San Diego, out-dueling Randy Jones.

Parker's sacrifice fly drove in the only run off Jones, who was going after his 21st victory, high in the majors.

Astros 3, Phillies 2
J.R. Richard's six-hitter was backed up by Bob Watson pair of RBI singles as Houston topped Philadelphia. It was the Astros' sixth straight victory and the fifth straight loss for Philadelphia, which leads the NL East Division by 1½ games.

Dodgers 5, Expos 1
Seven-hit pitching by starter Doug Rau and reliever Charlie Hough led Los Angeles past Montreal. Rau increased his record to 13-10, going seven innings and giving up six Montreal hits, including a pinch hit home run by Andre Thornton, his 11th of the year.

The Dodgers jumped off to a quick lead in the first on a two-run double by Bill Russell. In the eighth, a pinch hit single by Reggie Smith scored Lee Lacy from second, and Los Angeles added two more runs in the ninth.

Mets 6, Giants 2
Light-hitting Roy Staiger singled and scored the tying run in the seventh inning, then singled home the winning run in the eighth as the New York Mets defeated San Francisco.

Reliever Skip Lockwood gained the victory to level his record at 7-7. For Ed Halicki, 11-14, it was his first loss in five lifetime decisions against the Mets.

Tony Davis Out Of Griffin's Shadow

CINCINNATI (AP) — Nebraska's all-time rusher Tony Davis has stepped out of Archie Griffin's shadow to project himself into the running for a berth on the Cincinnati Bengals.

Buoyed by his best game as a Bengal, the blond bulldozing back has joined the two-time Heisman Trophy winner from Ohio State and Alabama's Willie Shelby in rookie bids to crack Cincinnati's veteran sixman unit.

The 5-foot-10, 200-pound Davis responded with 24 yards in five carries and caught four passes for 30 yards. His 5.6 yards per carry average is the best among Bengal running backs.

Nicknamed "Tough Tony" at Nebraska for his helmet-crunching collisions and exuberant end zone antics, Davis has brought his high octane approach to pro football.

"I'm an emotional person," said Davis, one of 11 Cornhuskers drafted by the National Football League last April. The nickname caught on after Davis celebrated his first college touchdown by kicking an end zone flag and slugging a fence.

That is Tony D's style. "I'm a firm believer that a guy with just 75 per cent ability and 100 per cent desire can beat out the guy with 100 per cent ability and 75 per cent desire. If I make a contribution, it's that I put out 110 per cent," said Davis.

Bengals Coach Bill Johnson, a fiery type himself, likes what he sees. "His attitude is catching," remarked Johnson after the Bengals 13-10 loss to New Orleans.

Meanwhile Davis battles odds that defy three rookies winning jobs on the Bengals, an 11-3 club in 1975 that now appears better-equipped to challenge Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh.

Brooks Lawrence Joins Cincy Hall Of Fame

CINCINNATI (AP) — Brooks Lawrence, who 20 years ago won 13 straight games upon joining the Cincinnati Reds, Tuesday became the 40th member and first black named to the National League club's Hall of Fame.

Traded to the Reds by St. Louis in 1956, Lawrence set a Cincinnati record for consecutive victories on his way to a 19-10 record. He won 16 games in 1957 and finished his seven year major league career with a 69-62 record.

Injuries Plague Cleveland Browns

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns offense continues to roll up the points, and is doing so despite the absence of several key offensive performers who have been sidelined with injuries.

In Monday night's 30-27 win over the New England Patriots, the Browns were without the services of running back Gregg Pruitt and wide receivers Reggie Rucker and Dave Logan.

Pruitt is suffering from a leg muscle pull, and Rucker and Logan continue to be saddled with groin pulls.

Tom Watson Defending Golf Title

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Defending champion Tom Watson's tip of the day: Professional golf is swinging down the right fairway with its revamped, enriched World Series.

"It's an excellent format now with the top pros from our tour and the foreign tours. It will give a true picture of the present caliber of golf worldwide," said Watson, winless on the American tour this year who qualified as the 1975 victor.

"It will become the premier tournament of the world," he promised.

Watson tuned up Tuesday with a 67, three under par over Firestone South's monstrous 7,180 yards, the site of the $300,000 championship of the sport beginning Thursday.

Still, he minimizes his chances against such shotmakers as Jack Nicklaus, Johnny Miller, Lee Trevino, Al Geiberger, Raymond Floyd and Ben Crenshaw.

"I'm only playing average right now. My chances are fair," said Watson.

He won a year ago with a 36-hole total of 140 for $50,000. The beatens were the other winners of the Big Four championships, Tom Weiskopf, Lou Graham and Nicklaus.

Now the total purse is four times as large and the field five-fold. Among the challengers are 16 members of the American tour and four winners of foreign orders of merit. The tournament's length has doubled to 72 holes and four days.

Casting himself as an underdog is logical for Watson, considering:

—Nicklaus, winner of 4 World Series, 6 tournaments, and an unprecedented $389,300 on the famed Firestone layout.

Lansdowne Holds Ladies Tourney

The Upper Lansdowne Ladies Golf Association held a scotch ball tournament Tuesday at the links.

Wild Race Predicted In NFC East

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

It's going to be wild, wild, wild in the National Conference East Division this year.

And you can take that as gospel from a man who ought to know, Dallas Coach Tom Landry, active dean of National Football League coaches.

The 16-year coaching veteran says, "I can't think of a team that shouldn't be improved. Again, the race probably won't be decided until the final Sunday and the division should produce a wild card team."

In 1975, St. Louis captured the conference crown for the second consecutive year but Dallas dealt its wild card 10-4 record right into the Super Bowl, bowing 21-17 to Pittsburgh.

For years, the NFC East has been dominated by either Dallas, St. Louis or Washington. But Landry sees a revival at Philadelphia and particularly for the New York Giants — two teams usually out of the race by October.

"The Giants helped themselves tremendously when they got Larry Csonka," says Landry. "He gives them a running threat to go with Craig Morton's passing."

The Giants stunned Pittsburgh 17-0 in preseason without Csonka. New York was 5-9 in 1975 but Philadelphia was even worse, 4-10.

There's a new coach at Philadelphia—Dick Vermeil, who guided UCLA's Rose Bowl upset of Ohio State.

"There's usually a lot more enthusiasm on a team when a coaching change occurs and the Eagles could be up," says Landry.

"Of course, St. Louis has a tremendous offense and the Cardinals have helped themselves defensively in the offseason," continues Landry. "Washington should be better offensively but we'll have to see if their defense holds up."

Landry warns that the Cowboys are still a rebuilding team with less experience defensively than a year ago.

But he figures "we should be right in the middle of the scrap with the rest of them."

St. Louis was 11-3 in the regular season a year ago but suffered a swoon in the first round of the playoffs again.

"Our goal is to make it into the playoffs again but we have to improve our defense," says Cardinal Coach Don Coryell.

The Cardinal offense is set with quarterback Jim Hart, who threw 19 touchdown passes, halfback Terry Metcalf, fullback Jim Otis and exciting wide receiver Mel Gray.

Coryell obtained huge tackle Walt

Patulski from Buffalo and tackle Marvin Upshaw and safety Mike Sensibaugh from Kansas City in off-season trades. The Cardinals also are hoping first-round draft pick Mike Dawson of Arizona, a defensive tackle, will make some immediate waves.

St. Louis has a tough late season stretch when the Cardinals face Los Angeles, Washington, Dallas and Baltimore in succession.

See Sparks Rehiring

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Despite a last-place finish in the International League, Toledo Mud Hens Manager Joe Sparks likely will be rehired.

"Joe has done a good job here," said Charlie Senger, the Toledo general manager. "As far as I'm concerned, he's our manager for next year if he doesn't get a better job."

While the Mud Hens were even less competitive with their new tie with the Cleveland Indians than the Philadelphia Phillies, it was a good year financially.

"Profitwise," said Senger, "I think it will be one of our better years."

The Indians gave the Hens an experienced pitching staff, spiced with several former major leaguers. The veteran staff collapsed, yielding six or more runs many nights. That offset a team batting average of around .280.

"The pitching staff just fell completely apart in midseason," conceded Bob Quinn, the Cleveland club's farm director.

"We had every reason to believe the Hens had the makings of a capable staff," he said. "It just didn't work out that way. It's that simple."

Quinn does not agree with Sparks' suggestion that the start of the collapse coincided with the exhibition game in which Indians' Manager Frank Robinson struck Toledo pitcher Bob Reynolds.

Tribe Trips Chisox, 4-2

CHICAGO (AP) — The Cleveland Indians handed Manager Frank Robinson a 4-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox Tuesday night on his 41st birthday but better than that, they kept up their drive in an effort to finish second in the American League East.

"Sure it was a nice game to win. They all are," said Robinson. "But finishing second would really be something. This organization hasn't finished second since 1959 when the White Sox won the pennant."

"It isn't the money but it would be a helluva thing if they could finish second. The club has been changed around so much. Last year and again this year we've made a complete turnaround."

"Finishing second would give them a feeling of accomplishment and the knowledge that they can win," said Robinson.

Duane Kuiper was the big man in the attack for the Indians and Dave LaRoche turned in another fine relief job to gain his 15th save of the season.

Kuiper drilled four singles, drove in the game's first run and singled and scored to launch a three-run rally in the 10th inning.

Ryan Passes Mark; Angels Win

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Nolan Ryan is not a man to worry about strikeout statistics. The California Angels' hardthrowing right-hander passed a milestone Tuesday night, and it almost slipped right passed him.

Detroit leadoff man Ron LeFlore had just struck out swinging to open the game, and Ryan was getting set to pitch to the Tigers' No. 2 man, Dan Meyer.

Suddenly, some folks in the crowd of 8,542 at Anaheim Stadium began to applaud. The cheers continued to build, finally turning into a standing ovation.

"I didn't know what it was," said Ryan. "Then I turned around and saw it on message board."

The board told the fans — and the pitcher — that LeFlore was the 2,000th strikeout of Ryan's career. He is only the 29th major league pitcher ever to reach that plateau.

Ryan went on to strike out 11 Tigers as he pitched the Angels to a 6-3 victory, scattering eight hits.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Baltimore Orioles beat the Kansas City Royals 4-3, the New York Yankees edged the Oakland A's 2-1, the Texas Rangers beat the Boston Red Sox 8-3, the Cleveland Indians topped the Chicago White Sox 4-2 in 10 innings and the Minnesota Twins and Milwaukee Brewers split a doubleheader, the Twins winning the opener 4-0 and the Brewers taking the nightcap 6-3.

Ryan's teammates supported him with 12 hits. Dave Collins contributed a double and two singles, Tony Solaita homered and singled and Jerry Humphrey and Rusty Torres each drove in a pair of runs in the sixth inning when the Angels erased a 3-2 deficit.

Orioles 4, Royals 3
Jim Palmer, the winningest pitcher in the AL, raised his record to 19-11 with relief help from Dyer Miller. Two months ago Palmer had a 6-7 record, but since then he's won 13 of 17 decisions and lowered his earned run average to an impressive 2.59.

Ken Singleton drove in two runs for the Orioles, and Al Bumbry scored three times.

Twins 4-4, Brewers 0-6
Dave Goltz pitched no-hit ball for 6 1-

3 innings and finished with a two-hitter and also struck out a career-high 11 batters for Minnesota in the opener. Steve Brye backed him with a three-run homer.

Von Joshua's two-run single in the seventh inning snapped a 3-3 tie in the nightcap for Milwaukee.

Yanks 2, A's 1
Graig Nettles' two-run homer in the seventh inning backed the three-hit pitching of Doyle Alexander and kept the firstplace Yankees 11½ games ahead of Baltimore in the AL East. Oakland, by losing, missed an opportunity to gain ground on front-running Kansas City in the West and remained eight games back.

Indians 4, White Sox 2
Duane Kuiper's fourth consecutive single keyed a three-run rally in the 10th inning that lifted the Indians over the White Sox.

Rangers 8, Red Sox 3
Roy Howell drove in three runs and Tom Grieve hit a two-run homer to power Texas past Boston. Nelson Briles, 9-8, got the victory with relief help from Steve Foucault.

Killbuck Rose Wins Ohio State Trot

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Killbuck Rose, ridden by Terry Holton, posted a wire to wire victory Tuesday in the featured $29,650 Ohio State Trot harness racing event at the Ohio State Fair.

The horse, owned by Robert and Henry Critchfield, completed the circuit in 2:06, two lengths ahead of the field. Killbuck Rose also won the second division heat, boosting its total earnings to $9,339.

Finishing second was Desire, while Kay Coalton placed third.

Last and 150th golfer to tee off the first day in the four-day 1976 U.S. Open golf championship was pro Calvin Peete of South Bay, Fla.

ALL NIGHT'S WORK — Roger, 15, and Mike McCabe, 17, Route 2, fished all Friday night for these three shovelhead catfish. They used leaches to bait the fish in a secret fishing area supposedly in Darby Creek. The largest one weighs 10 pounds.

Bishop Flouts Pope's Wishes

ESANCON, France (AP) — Roman Catholic Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre, already suspended by Pope Paul VI, says he will celebrate another Mass in Latin on Sunday in defiance of the Pope.

Msgr. Lefebvre said Tuesday that during the Mass this Sunday he will ordain a priest in accordance with the Latin rites banned by the Pope.

Msgr. Lefebvre ignored appeals from the Pope and celebrated Mass in Latin for some 7,000 Roman Catholic traditionalists in the northern French city of Lille on Aug. 29. His Mass this Sunday will be celebrated in the Besancon indoor sports stadium.

The Roman Catholic church has for several years required that Mass be celebrated in the language of the congregation.

PUCO Seeks Court Order On Hiring

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has asked the Supreme Court to order Ohio's budget director to approve new PUCO personnel, despite a hiring freeze imposed by the administration. In a suit filed directly with the Supreme Court, the PUCO asked for a writ of mandamus against William Wilkins, director of the office of management and budget, requiring him to certify that sufficient funds are available to hire new staff.

Paul Richards, a spokesman for the PUCO, said the action was filed because PUCO is unable to hire the staff needed to investigate and process utility rate cases. The PUCO is the regulatory body which must approve the rates charged by utilities such as gas, electric and telephone companies. "We're running into a severe problem anytime we want to hire new people, or even promote from within," Richards said.

Richards said in the past year, the PUCO work force has increased from 290 persons to 328. However, he said the General Assembly has authorized the PUCO to employ 350 people. "We're short 22 people, and when you're talking about accountants and engineers, that's a lot," he said. He said the PUCO has 43 rate cases pending, and added that lack of staff "could hurt us in terms of the quality of our investigation."

Town Police
In Arrests

Two persons were arrested in Williamsport and South Bloomfield Tuesday night in separate incidents investigated by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies, who received assistance from the respective village police departments.

Williamsport Policemen Charles Jones and Michael Peterson were responsible for the apprehension of Patrick McHale, 47, Cincinnati, who was wanted by Tulsa, Oklahoma, police as a fugitive from justice.

The warrant, filed March 20, 1973, claims McHale was arrested for obtaining money under false pretenses.

The Williamsport officers stopped the man during a routine radar check about 8:45 p.m. Tuesday on E. Mill St. He was additionally charged with speeding 49 miles an hour in a 35 zone.

Deputy R. L. Phillips took custody of McHale after it was discovered through an NCIC check that he was wanted.

Shirley A. Madden, 25, Columbus, was charged by Deputy Jim Fite and Deputy Terry Frazier with carrying a concealed weapon.

She was arrested in the Bloomfield Inn, South Bloomfield, 7:45 p.m. Tuesday with the gun, a .22 caliber Clerke 1st with loaded clip, in her brassiere.

South Bloomfield Marshall Harold Hopkins assisted in the arrest, the Deputies said. Ms. Madden, confronted with the weapons charge, voluntarily surrendered to the officers.

She is apparently on parole on a grand theft charge in Franklin County.

Thieves concentrated on stripping car parts in various sections of the county, according to reports.

Hazel Westbury, Route 1, Orient, told deputies that thieves took a 12 volt battery from her car, which was parked in front of her Darbyville home.

Thieves took license tags, a Farm Fleet battery, and 12 volt alternator from a car owned by Danny Counts, Canal Winchester. The car was parked at his 25503 Shoemaker Road home.

Nancy Dean, a student at the Circleville Bible College, told deputies that thieves took a Sears Citizen Band transceiver from her locked car, which was parked at the Women's Dormitory.

The radio is valued at $90. Vandals splattered three raw eggs on the hood and tail gate of a Chevrolet El Camino owned by Paul Huff, 127 N. Water St., Williamsport, last night.

Deputies are also investigating vandalism to the baseball field at Darby Elementary School, London St., Derby.

Deputy Lowell Ferguson said vandals apparently drove a vehicle across the outfield area, inflicting heavy damage to the grass.

Firemen

Circleville Firemen were called to the Ralston-Purina Mill on South Court Street at 3:35 p.m., Tuesday.

A motor on a conveyor belt overheated, causing a minor fire. Firemen used dry powder to extinguish the blaze.

No injuries were reported.

Employee

Ronald D. Brown, Route 1, an installer-repairer, has received a certificate for completing a training course at General Telephone Co. of Ohio's technical training school in Marion.

The course covers paystation installation and maintenance. Mechanics of the single-slot are included in the course.

All coins are deposited in the single slot on these paystations. Coin denomination is determined by the tone each coin makes as heard by the operator.

Brown has been with the company for nine years and works in various exchanges in the company's Circleville district.

This course, one of more than 90 provided by the technical training school headquartered in Marion, is part of General's plan for continual education of employees to keep pace with telephony developments.

LE Boosters Meet Thursday

The Logan Elm Booster Club will meet Thursday, 8 p.m., in the high school library.

Items for discussion include finalizing plans for the football and band preview scheduled for Sept. 9 and the purchase of a flag pole.

Legislators Recalled To Change Rescue Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An emergency bill deliberately drawn to avoid controversy awaited legislators today as they headed toward Columbus for an abrupt special session of the General Assembly.

The bill was drafted late Wednesday night by an ad hoc committee of legislators, state officials and lobbyists to deal with a crisis which threatens the availability of emergency medical service throughout the state.

The bill would provide special authorization for personnel who operate ambulances and other emergency vehicles throughout the state to continue performing their duties.

Most were automatically disqualified from their jobs by a new state law Tuesday, leaving them open to criminal prosecution for doing their jobs and possibly leaving individuals vulnerable to civil lawsuits.

Gov. James A. Rhodes called the special session of the legislature Wednesday to deal with the problem after medical technicians and paramedics began saying they would not respond to emergency medical calls.

"Lives are endangered, and thousands of our most valued public servants are placed in jeopardy because of rigid interpretations of the new certification law," Rhodes said in a statement accompanying his proclamation.

"My office has been flooded with calls from mayors and other sincere public officials underscoring the extent of this emergency," Rhodes said.

Rep. Kenneth R. Cox, D-41 Barberton, who chaired the ad hoc meeting Wednesday night, told the group the emergency legislation could ruffle no feathers in the legislature because there would be no votes to spare.

"As a very practical matter, we're going to be darned lucky to get two-thirds (of the legislators) present tomorrow," Cox said. "If there's any controversy involved in it at all, it's just not going to pass. It's just that darned simple."

Chan Cochran, the governor's administrative assistant said 17,700 emergency medical personnel applied for certificates before the law took effect.

However, a spokesman for the state board of education— which administers the law— said only 3,669 had been found eligible for certification as of 6 p.m. Wednesday, leaving some 14,000 uncertified.

In his proclamation, Rhodes said he was concerned about possible liability to civil lawsuits by ambulance attendants and the cities which employ them. Certified paramedics under the new law are immune from civil lawsuits resulting from their duties except for "willful or wanton misconduct."

However, Cox said most technicians will have protection under the state's

House Votes Down Federal Pay Boost Before Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is now up to the Senate to decide whether senators, congressmen and other members of the upper strata of the federal government should accept pay raises in the home stretch of a national election year.

Members of the House of representatives, most of them in the midst of re-election campaigns, decided on a 325 to 75 vote Wednesday that they really don't need election year pay hikes. And, in a surprise move, the House also decided the election year salary increases should be denied to senators, federal judges and high executive officials.

The pay raise for the lawmakers and high-level officials would be automatic as of Oct. 1 under usual procedure. If members of the House and Senate take their automatic pay raises their salaries would rise from $44,600 a year to about $46,740 a year.

The House voted against the pay raises by adding an amendment to the bill that provides money to run Congress and its related agencies. The House then passed the $780-million measure.

The bill now goes to the Senate, which is expected to take it up after the Labor Day recess.

While all House seats are up for election, only one-third of the Senate seats are at stake and senators presumably are feeling less political pressure to avoid a raise that might inflame voters.

Moreover, senators favoring the raise can argue that it would be unfair to deny the adjustment to about 2,000 non-elected workers.

If the Senate disagrees with the House about the need for pay raises, the issue will go to a conference committee for resolution.

The outlook for the increases was further complicated by some Republicans' charges that the House vote was a sham because the possibility remains that there still will be a pay raise after the election under another federal pay law.

The bill passed by the House dealt with cost-of-living increases provided for by a 1975 payroll law. The amount of the increase has not yet been determined, but it is expected to be at least 4.8 per cent.

But an earlier law, still in effect, provides for a special commission to study salaries of members of Congress and high government officials and make recommendations every four years for pay adjustments that also would be automatic.

And Rep. Larry Pressler, R-S.D., said the special commission is expected to recommend "at least a $10,000 hike" in lawmaker's salaries when it makes its report about two months after the election. Pressler said "Congress is playing a cruel hoax on Americans."

Kelley Punishment Eyed By Ford, Levi

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford and Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi are considering whether to punish FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley for accepting gifts from senior FBI officials.

Ford asked Levi on Wednesday for a full report on the situation, and Levi put his staff to work preparing it.

Levi said he is reserving judgment on whether Kelley was wrong to accept the gifts, until he reviews the findings in the staff report.

An FBI spokesman said Kelley is "absolutely not" considering resigning. The director believes it was proper for him to accept the gifts and he has no present plans to return any of them or make restitution for them, the spokesman said in response to questions.

In a statement issued Tuesday, Kelley had said he was "prepared to make restitution for any of such gifts which are not clearly permitted" by federal law.

Kelley's gifts have become an issue in the department investigation of financial misconduct and abuses of power within the FBI. Kelley said he voluntarily told department investigators about the gifts and about personal services performed for him by FBI personnel.

Department sources said the official heading the investigation, John Dowd, told Levi that Kelley should be fired for accepting the gifts.

But Michael Shaheen, the department counsel on professional responsibility and Dowd's supervisor, disagreed and instead proposed that Levi publicly reprimand Kelley, the sources said.

Levi said reports about those recommendations were not entirely accurate, but he declined to elaborate.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford "has complete faith in the FBI director."

And, Levi said, "I think Kelley has been doing an excellent job." But the attorney general declined to say whether his confidence in Kelley was diminished when he learned of the gifts.

State Fair Attendance Needs Boost

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Attendance is down at the Ohio State Fair, and officials speculate that an earlier starting date for many school children may be a contributing factor.

With four days left, 50,000 fewer fairgoers went through the gates than last year. Total attendance through Wednesday was 1,326,969, compared with 1,375,082 last year.

On Wednesday, 174,857 persons visited the fair, compared with 194,020 a year ago on the same date.

Fair officials speculated that schools starting earlier than last year in some districts may be hurting attendance.

But if school starts are keeping some fairgoers away, the Ohio Village is attracting them with contests and games not usually held at the village during the fair.

The village, modeled after a 19th century Ohio settlement, gives visitors a chance at tossing cannonballs into a circle and throwing tomahawks.

But if you are looking for less physical contests, try the village's Town Hall, where visitors can test their knowledge of Ohio. The contests have not been offered in the village before and the other games are usually available only on special occasions.

Also new this year are the craftsmen operating in their village shops. They include a weaver, tinsmith, cabinetmaker, blacksmith, gunsmith and a saddle and harness maker.

Admission to the village will be free on Labor Day to anyone who has paid fair admission.

Leukemia Society Fund Drive Begins Sept. 7

During September 19,000 volunteers will be ringing doorbells throughout Central Ohio asking your help to support the Leukemia Society's programs of research, patient aid and public and professional education.

The main drive will be September 7th through the 18th.

If the volunteer cannot complete the area during this time, the balance of September may be used to complete the assignment, but marchers are urged to go out and collect their area as soon as possible.

John R. Adkins, the Pickaway County Chairman, stated that the kits should be turned into the First National Bank at Court and Main St. during normal banking hours.

Each volunteer will be identified by a red and white kit which lists the volunteer's name and the area to be covered.

The Leukemia Society is a voluntary health agency with 51 Chapters located throughout the country. The Central Ohio Chapter held its first drive in 1960.

The Leukemia Society's main accent is research. Currently, Dr. Arthur Sagone Jr., at the Ohio State University Hospital, has a five-year $100,000 scholarship from the Society which runs through June 30, 1978.

In addition to providing funds for research, more than 50 patients are now being assisted by the Society in the Central Ohio area.

The third phase of the Leukemia Society's program is public and professional education. Information, speakers, movies, slides and programs may be obtained by calling the office at (614) 221-3129.

The Central Ohio Chapter of the Leukemia Society of America, Inc., of which Mrs. H. Richard P. Niehoff is President, is responsible for 39 counties.

The Chapter is supported entirely by public contributions. Last year the volunteers raised over $188,000.

To volunteer to help the Leukemia Society in the annual door-to-door residential drive to raise funds - or for information - call 477-1216.

If you are unable to serve as a volunteer, we hope you will serve in another very important role - that of a contributor. Please lend your support in the fight against leukemia by contributing generously when your neighbor calls at your door in September.

Mosquito Control Program Set Tonight In Circleville

By DAVE AMEY
Herald City Editor

Chemical control of a pesky and dangerous mosquito population will begin tonight, according to Pickaway County Health Department Environmentalist Hugh Barnhill.

The program, set Wednesday, was postponed because of unavailability of equipment and poor weather.

The Health Department crew of Barnhill, Thurman Mounts, and George Lowery, will be applying Malathion mist in Circleville from 7 to 9 p.m., and will continue with the daily program in both morning and evening sessions until cooler weather. Mounts and Lowery are CETA employees hired by the Pickaway County Commissioners to carry out the work.

Barnhill decided to start the program in Circleville because of its large population concentration and because two confirmed cases of St. Louis encephalitis have been uncovered here.

The misting program will include the entire county, however, with the crews concentrating on populated areas. Misting will not be conducted during cool weather or rain.

The Ultra Low Velocity mister was borrowed from the Ohio Department of Health, which also gave the Pickaway County Board of Health $8,300 to purchase insecticide for the program.

The chemical, Malathion, will be used. It is sufficiently safe to nontarget life forms to justify its use in mosquito control, according to a study published by the Wildlife Society.

Used in adult mosquito control, Malathion will only provide relief from biting adult mosquitoes and will not eliminate the problem.

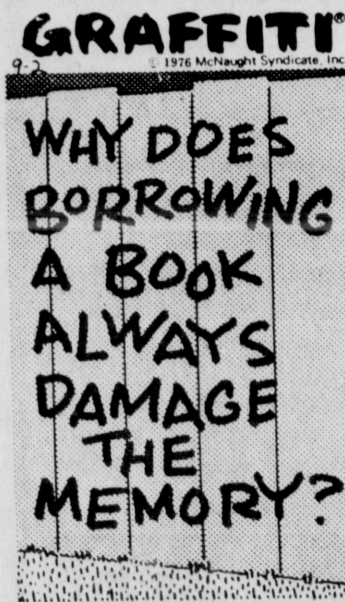

Health Department Mosquito Control Expert Bob Kramer has affected an extensive control program, however, designed at restoring and balancing outdoor living with acceptable mosquito nuisance levels with a complete program. Residents have been warned to control breeding areas at their homes, and a mosquito larva control program was instituted earlier in the year.

Malathion is safe to humans exposed at rates used in mosquito control, according to Barnhill, and is sometimes used to control body lice on humans. Persons with respiratory problems should not come in direct contact with the spray.

Applied at rates used for mosquito control, Malathion will not result in harmful residues on plants and other surfaces. Persons with home gardens should follow the common practice of washing vegetables before consumption. Undiluted spray droplets of Malathion will permanently damage automobile paint, however, if applied incorrectly.

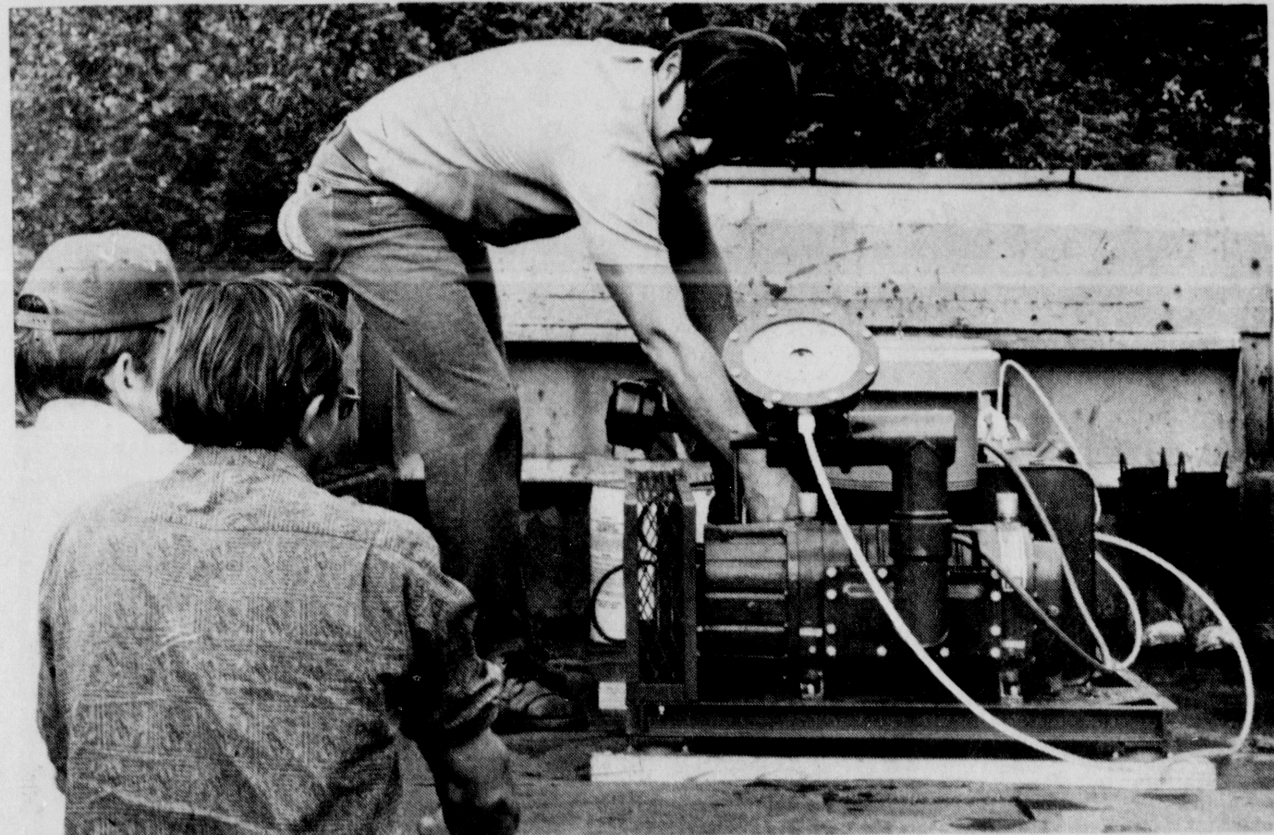

Malathion is applied for mosquito control at rates of .038 to .087 pounds active material per acre. The rates normally used for control of insect pests such as aphids, scales, and mites, in garden and crop spraying are from .075 to 1.50 pounds per acre. Lady bugs, praying mantis and other beneficial insects will be killed at higher rates but are affected less at the lower rates used in adult mosquito control.

Bees are susceptible to the spray if directly exposed. However, the Health Department will be applying the spray at a time when bee activity is at its lowest. The County Extension office has served as a liaison in keeping a watchful eye on the bee population, and most apiarists have been pinpointed.

Weather

Partly cloudy and cool today, tonight, and tomorrow, with only a slight chance of rain late this afternoon. Highs should be in the low 70s today and mid 70s tomorrow, while the temperature should drop to the mid 50s tonight. There is a 30 per cent chance of rain today and 10 per cent chance tonight and Friday. High Wednesday was 73 and the low was 60.

ULV MISTER — Pickaway County Health Department Environmentalist Hugh Barnhill explains the operation of a chemical mister to CETA employees Thurman Mounts and George Lowery. The mosquito control program will begin tonight and continue until cooler weather controls the insects.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) —Encouragement over the inflation outlook carried the stock market higher again today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose about 2 points in the early going, and gainers took a 3-1 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

As the market opened the government reported that its wholesale price index, after seasonal adjustment, declined .1 per cent last month.

The drop was made possible by a 2.9 per cent decline in the index's often volatile food component.

Industrial commodity prices during the month rose .7 per cent.

McDonnell Douglas, the early volume leader among NYSE stocks, gained 1/4 to 24 1/2. The company said it expected to continue in a favorable earnings trend over the second half of the year.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average climbed 12.21 points to 985.95 for its largest gain in more than two months.

The jump increased the average's advance for the past four sessions to 25.51 points.

Advances outnumbered declines by more than a 2-1 margin among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index added .58 to 55.50.

Big Board volume stepped up to 18.64 million shares.

Both Drivers Charged After Auto Crash

David N. Barr, 18, Amanda, and Michael W. Dick, 18, South Bloomfield, were charged with reckless operation following a 1:35 p.m. Wednesday accident on the Circleville-Lockbourne Road.

Both men suffered visible injuries, according to the Ohio State Highway Patrol, but refused treatment.

According to the report, Barr was driving south on the Circleville-Lockbourne Road, about a half a mile south of the Ashville Corporation limits, and Dick was driving north.

The investigating officer said that the men apparently recognized each other and both steered to the left on an apparent collision course.

Barr apparently returned to the right side, but Dick failed to gain control of his car, which skidded into the left side of Barr's car.

Carl E. De Long, 42, 146 Town St., was charged with driving in a marked lane after an 11:35 a.m. Wednesday accident on Route 23 near the Red Bridge-East Ringgold Road intersection.

The Ohio State Patrol said DeLong was attempting to pass a car driven by Janet L. Budzynski, 24, Chillicothe, when his car drifted into the right lane and struck her car in the left side.

There were no injuries.

Thieves Take Gas From Farm Tank

An estimated 400 gallons of gasoline was taken from an underground storage tank on property owned by Russell England, 6622 Route 361.

England told Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff William Carmean that he filled the 500 gallon tank Aug. 3 and used about 100 gallons of fuel.

Value was set at $220.

Thieves used a piece of garden hose to syphon about 18 gallons of gasoline from a car owned by Mrs. Richard K. Smith, 9949 Ashville Pike.

The car was parked at her house, deputies said.

Marion Allen, 24730 Kinderhook Road, Williamsport, told deputies that thieves took a small calf from a fenced four-acre field north of his house.

The 290 pound calf is valued at $80. Deputies said vandals used a pellet gun to shoot two holes in a 24-inch square window at the Full Gospel Christian Assembly, 555 Northridge Road.

Damage is estimated at $5.

Farm Costs Show Minimal Decrease

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's over-all index of prices that farmers pay out as expenses to produce the nation's food and fiber declined slightly last month, but the drop does not necessarily mean that production costs across the board are on a downward trend.

According to the Agriculture Department's "prices paid" index for the month ended Aug. 15, those expenses dropped one-half of 1 per cent. It was one of the few such declines in recent years.

But the report issued Tuesday by the department's Crop Reporting Board showed that prices, goods and services required by farmers still averaged 6 per cent higher than they did on Aug. 15, 1975, and that most of the dip from mid-July was due to lower prices for some things that farmers produce themselves.

For example, the price of livestock feed dropped 4 per cent from July 15, and the average price of "feeder livestock" animals — young cattle, hogs, lambs and baby chicks — dropped 1 per cent from mid-July.

Although there is frequently some "middleman" involvement in the sale of feeder livestock and feed, those items are produced initially by farmers for sale to other producers who need them for their operations. Thus, when USDA reports that the prices of those farm-originated items decline it means that some producers benefit while others are hurt.

Meanwhile, prices of many industrial items needed on the farm continued to be more expensive last month. The index for building and fencing materials, for example, was up 1 per cent from July 15. The index for fuel and other energy, however, held steady during the month.

Carter Aide Sets Up Ohio Changes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Jimmy Carter's new Ohio campaign coordinator says Ohio's Carter volunteers will have to get used to some changes.

Dan Horgan, who ran the uncommitted slate campaign in New Jersey that defeated Carter in that state's primary, and who now is Carter's Ohio coordinator, said he wants a businesslike approach to the general election.

Asked about reported impatience among the Ohio volunteers, Horgan said many are still caught up with the excitement of the closing days of the primary campaign, the thrill which began May 25 and ended on June 8, election day.

"It isn't the 25th of May, and it'll never be the 25th of May again," Horgan said.

"That was a guerrilla operation," Horgan said of the primary campaign. "This is a business operation. It's going to be done as businesslike as possible."

Horgan said his efforts in Ohio will be aimed at letting the Democratic presidential nominee sell himself, and downplayed his own job.

"All things being equal, Jimmy Carter will carry the State of Ohio," he said. "My role is to guarantee that on election day, all things are equal."

The lawmaking world must take action against the noise-making world simply because many parents and teachers have failed to teach children, during the impressionable years before adolescence sets in, to respect the feelings of others.

Kids generally respect property rights of others, but when it comes to noise many can't hear anything anyone else is saying. Literally.

the shopper who activates the alarm; "If he resists or runs, remember his description. If that person was a shoplifter, he will realize that he is known and usually won't return."

This nice-guy approach to a serious economic program in retail stores was not devised purely for reason of common courtesy. Nor was it designed with a moralistic "turn the other cheek, shopkeeper" ethic in mind. It is meant to be a deterrent: if you know you'll be discovered, you won't "lift." And even more important, the fact is that there are always built-in possibilities for error in any technological system for apprehending dishonest shoppers. Clerks may forget to remove the tag, and innocent buyers can set off the alarm: and accusing an innocent person of shoplifting could cost a company more than shoplifting itself.

But this soft-voiced approach to amateur crime is turning out to be remarkably effective. This electronic article surveillance device has, in some cases, reduced shoplifting by the land rather than concentrated in the massive cities, and "the Washington-New York axis," he said.

Lillienthal was a bit irritated, perhaps in part because he recognized that in the circle of scholarly, politically important and powerful people of which he has long been a member, his expressions might be thought anti-intellectual.

For that, he said, he was prepared but he would continue to speak out of his belief that power is found not in money or political authority or military might, but in human beings.

This philosophy permeates his journals, which begin with his years as chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, continue through the period in which he headed the Atomic Energy Commission, on to his creation of the Development and Resources Corp., a unique private enterprise that has pursued successfully the integrated development, physical and human, of once backward areas.

Written in Gregg shorthand and then transcribed, the journals have received high critical acclaim for their style, commentaries, anecdotes and observations of major events and people, as well as sensitive reflections on family and nature.

Among other things, the latest volume — more are being transcribed — describes his concept of development, which includes not just the building of dams for power, but training in skills, business, agriculture — and confidence.

Harry Strawser pitched Stonerock TV to the tournament crown in the Greenfield Invitational Softball Tourney, as the local team defeated Anderson's Restaurant from Washington C. H. The final score was 5-1.

Upset About Male Roommate

DEAR ABBY: My daughter was recently transferred to a large city where the crime rate is very high. She is 29, unmarried and self-supporting, and she has always had very high moral standards. She told us that she would try to find a roommate to share expenses.

She telephoned us last Sunday to say she'd found a very nice GENTLEMAN who is now her roommate! She assured us that she rented a two-bedroom apartment, that everything was on the up and up and that there was no romantic interest whatsoever! She explained that a male in the apartment is much better protection in a big city than another girl. He is 33, single, of course, and an assistant coach at a high school.

Abby, I believe our daughter and trust her. When I told her father, he said maybe it will be "innocent" for a while, but not for long. Also, when people find out she's living with a man, her reputation will suffer. What do you think?

QUALITY MEAT FOR LESS

DEAR OLD-FASHIONED: A self-supporting 29-year-old woman is old enough to select her own lifestyle, and I think her reasons for preferring to share an apartment with a man are valid.

As for her reputation "suffering": It won't suffer among those who really know her, and that's what counts.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has this friend who is always dropping in around suppertime. Of course we have to ask him to stay for supper, but that's not the half of it. He sits around until 1:00 or 2:00 in the morning.

We've had to change our plans because of his unexpected visits. Sometimes he even brings his girlfriend along.

We have hinted that he should please let us know when he's coming, but it hasn't done any good. What should we do? We don't want to hurt his feelings, as he's a very sensitive man.

NEEDS HELP IN OHIO
DEAR NEEDS: Sensitive? No way. Quit hinting. That's like using a BB gun when you need a cannon. Tell him what you told me. And if you don't get him to respect your wishes, you deserve the inconvenience he's causing you.

DEAR ABBY: The person who complained about our rising postal rates should count his blessings. Let's make some comparisons:

A first class letter costs 18 cents to mail in Britain, 17 cents in Japan, 18 cents in France, 19 cents in Germany and 23 cents in Sweden!

In the U.S.A. for 13 cents plus the price of a greeting card, you can:

Warm a heart, hold a hand, lend an ear, tickle a funnybone, dry an eye, surprise a child, woo a sweetheart, toast a bride, welcome a stranger, wave goodbye, shout bravo, and even start a tradition.

JEANNETTE LEE: K.C., MO.

DEAR JEANNETTE: Thanks for a dandy day-brighener.

MRS. JOSEPH THOMAS SUBICH

Trinity Lutheran Church was the setting for the 2:30 p.m., Aug. 29, wedding of Miss Kay Ann Crist and Mr. Joseph Thomas Subich.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Edwin J. Kraus, 217 Linden Lane, and the late Judge Emmitt L. Crist. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Subich, 866 Dickson Parkway, Mansfield.

Pastor Carl Zehner performed the double ring service before the altar adorned with vases of white gladioli and carnations, baby's breath and pink roses. Other decorations of the church were floral arrangements of white, pink and pale blue carnations, and white satin bows on the pews.

A program of music preceding the ceremony was presented by Mrs. Thomas Downing, organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. James P. Moffitt. For her wedding she selected a full length gown of white silk organza trimmed with venise lace. The empire bodice featured a lace and ribbon cummerbund, V-neckline edged with lace and ribbon, and shepherdess sleeves enhanced with lace motifs. The skirt, flowing to fullness at the back, formed a chapel length train edged in lace. The bride's bouffant veil of silk illusion was held by a lace and seed pearl profile. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink sweetheart roses, white minuet roses, baby's breath, miniature white carnations and ivy greenery.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Larry

Kraus, a cousin of the bride. She was attired in a pale blue crinkle cotton gown with an empire waist, tie sash, V-neckline edged with white cluny lace, white butterfly sleeves, and gathered full length skirt edged with a wide white flounce. She carried a colonial bouquet of minuet roses, white, pink and pale blue carnations, baby's breath and snowdrift pompons.

Bridesmaids, Miss Sue Subich and Miss Polly Subich, sisters of the bridegroom, were gowned identically to the honor attendant and carried matching bouquets. The attendants all wore silver chain necklaces, gifts of the bride.

Miss Jennifer Kraus and Miss Shelly Summers, cousins of the bride, were flower girls. They wore floor length pale blue gowns of organza with satin sashes. Circlets of miniature flowers were worn in their hair and they carried nosegays of roses and carnations. They also wore silver necklaces, gifts of the bride.

Master Eddie Scherer, a cousin of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

Mr. David Subich served his brother as best man. Ushers were Mr. Kevin Roach and Mr. Dennis Dittiachur.

The bride's mother wore a per-simmon floor length gown of tiered chiffon with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a floor length gown of white embroidered organza over pink. Corsages for both mothers were of white cymbidium orchids.

A reception in the Parish House of the church immediately followed the ceremony. The four tiered wedding cake was topped with the traditional bride and groom figures and flanked with candelabra. Floral arrangements were on the table decorated in pale blue and white. A buffet was held later in the day at the home of the bride for members of the wedding party and out-of-town guests.

Loyal Daughters Class of Good Shepherd United Methodist Church will host the Shining Light Class of the church at a cooperative dinner 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Service Center.

Transportation for guests may be made by contacting Gladys Noggle at 474-2612.

Hostesses were Mrs. Lee Cook, Mrs. James Reichelderfer, and Miss Pat Shambaugh. Mrs. Fred Summers presided at the guest register.

As the couple left for a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination the bride wore a blue flowered polyester knit dress with a matching jacket. They will reside at 4315 Chesford Road, Columbus.

The bride is a graduate of Otterbein College and is employed in the Public Relations Department of the American Red Cross in Columbus.

The bridegroom, also a graduate of Otterbein College, is employed by radio station WCVO in Gahanna as broadcaster and engineer.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Albany, Australia; Mansfield, Wadsworth, Medina, Cuyahoga Falls, Lorain, Piqua and Columbus, Ohio.

Wright State: Fulfillment Of Dream

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Early in the 1950s, Robert S. Oelman saw a need for a state supported college in the Dayton area and set about making it a reality.

Today, Wright State University—the fulfillment of Oelman's dream—is a growing four-year college with 13,000 students.

"We recognized we had this tremendous need for a state supported institution in the Dayton area," said Oelman, who recently retired as chairman of WSU's trustees.

Oelman said Community Research, Inc., of which he was president, conducted a survey which conclusively "showed that in those cities that didn't have a state-supported institution, a smaller proportion of high school graduates went to college. In other words, the cities that didn't have a state-supported institution were denying their high school graduates a higher education at a price they could afford."

So Oelman began ringing doorbells to raise the $16 million that would provide the basis of the new school.

"It took a personal touch and hard work," he said. "From the start there was a tremendous response from the community."

"I have never been involved in any activity that had more instant support than the Wright State venture. It took very little salesmanship on anyone's part to point out the pluses and great benefits which would accrue to the community from supporting an institution of this kind."

Oelman, who also recently retired as chairman of the National Cash Register Co. and as a trustee of his alma mater, Dartmouth College, said the goal from the beginning was to provide a high quality of education at a low cost to the area's high school graduates.

He and the late S.C. Allyn, the man who preceded Oelman as NCR's chairman, then convinced the state regents that the need for the institution existed in the area.

Oelman served as chairman of the advisory board which preceded the governor-appointed trustee board, then later as Wright State grew into a significant, community-based university, became chairman of the institution's trustees.

Under Oelman's watchful eye, Wright State graduated its first class in 1968. In a few years, the university will grant its first students from the new medical school, another of Oelman's successes.

"The medical school plan fits in with the entire Wright State concept," he said. "We had to find a way to do it without capital funds," Oelman said, but the agreement of the area's hospitals to provide clinical facilities made the plan possible. "It saved millions of dollars."

Although retired, the 67-year-old Oelman has agreed to remain on the WSU board until the governor appoints a new chairman. Oelman said that he has discussed returning to WSU in the future, but as a member of the faculty.

"The activity of my retirement has not decreased enough to think of an immediate assignment," he added. "But I think someday I will."

Solons May Allow Selves Pay Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives faces a ticklish decision on whether to accept a pay raise this election year.

There is strong sentiment in both parties in favor of amending the legislative appropriation bill today to deny funds for the pay raise that otherwise will come automatically Oct. 1.

For two years, the pay of members of Congress has been tied to the overall government formula that provides for cost-of-living increases. If it is allowed to go into effect, the 1976 raise will increase members' salaries from $44,600 to about $46,740.

While key Democrats and Republicans agreed on the principle of foregoing the pay hike, they squared away for a rough partisan fight on other proposals that the GOP minority is pushing in the name of congressional reform.

Limiting perquisites and tightening House fiscal practices has been a prime political issue in the wake of the sexpayroll scandals that mostly involved accusations against Democrats.

Democrats contend they already have taken important steps to curb any abuses and that other major actions should await recommendations of Congress' newly created Commission on Administration Review.

At the behest of the House Democratic caucus, the Democratic majority on the Rules Committee authorized floor consideration of amendments that would bar any pay raise through Sept. 30, 1977. The committee turned down Republican demands that the appropriations bill be opened up for a variety of other amendments.

The Republican Policy Committee said that if the Democratic majority refuses to let other amendments come to a vote, "then charges will be justified that the House remains a semi-secret club, self-perpetuating itself with generous allowances and benefiting from hiring practices, perquisites and automatic inflation-triggered pay raises."

Besides barring the pay raises, the Democratic caucus-sponsored amendments would give statutory backing to the Review Commission and to a resolution trimming the authority of the House Administration Committee, formerly headed by Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, to increase members' allowances without a vote of the whole House.

Whatever action the House may take to deny itself the pay raise would not bind the Senate. But that chamber would be under heavy pressure to follow suit when it receives the bill.

House Republicans have their own amendments denying funds for a pay raise and trimming the authority of the Administration Committee. In addition, they want audits of members' and committees' accounts, a requirement that vouchers be certified as representing official expenses only, and more publication of fiscal and employment data.

School Plan For Cleveland Under Study

CLEVELAND (AP) — Now that a federal judge has found intentional segregation in Cleveland public schools, the long give-and-take period begins over what form and how fast an integration plan will come.

The Cleveland school board already has filed a notice to appeal U.S. District Judge Frank J. Battisti's ruling that held both the Cleveland school board and the Ohio Board of Education responsible for school segregation here.

The Cleveland board also has filed a motion to hold up any action on integration until the appeal is settled. In a countermove, the National Association of Colored People, which brought the suit against both boards, said Wednesday that it will oppose any efforts to delay integration.

Battisti gave the Cleveland board 90 days to devise an integration plan. Nathaniel Jones, chief NAACP attorney, said the "legal issues are indisputable" and that integration should start as soon as possible.

The state board has not yet decided whether to appeal the decision which found it partly responsible for segregation in Cleveland by not doing enough to overcome it. Thaddeus Garrett Jr., a state board member from Akron, said he will ask the board on Sept. 13 to consider a desegregation plan resolution he will introduce.

From 1800 to 1820 a total of 8,848,152 Ohio acres worth $17.2 million were sold by the federal government under the credit system.

Matches did not come into use in Ohio until about 1835. The earliest "lucifers" or sulphur sticks had to be dipped into a vial of prepared liquid to ignite, and they were not always dependable.

Board Of Regents Eye Adult Education

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Board of Regents wants Ohio colleges and universities to meet the "growing demand for lifelong learning" by expanding programs geared to the adult-education market.

"The time is past when colleges and universities can narrowly view their contribution as something which takes place at a set and usually early stage of a student's life," the regents said. "Now they must concern themselves with the much broader need for lifelong learning."

The call for a new commitment higher education for older adults is a major emphasis of the regents five-year Ohio Master Plan. It is expected to be adopted at a meeting Sept. 17.

In a draft copy of the report, the board noted that the adult education market currently is dominated by agencies and institutions outside the field of traditional higher education. In 1973, the report says more than 32 million adults nationwide used some sort of noncampus training or learning.

Higher education in Ohio cannot hope to expand courses "into every conceivable field and compete with all the other organizations involved in lifelong learning." But the report says colleges and universities should consider major changes in historical programming as a priority.

"Faced with very serious economic pressures, they must begin providing effective services to new groups of students, especially adults, to offset the expected decline in enrollments from your age groups."

There is no need for a specialized statewide campus for older adults, according to the regents study. "Our existing institutions have the resources and responsibility for this important assignment."

As a first step, the regents would set up a statewide Planning Council on Lifelong Learning to assist the colleges and universities and recommend to state government policies that will encourage adult education.

The board further says that much already is being done in Ohio to provide for expanded adult education. In 1975, a regents survey found more than 225,000 registrations at state-assisted colleges and universities for late afternoon, weekend and evening courses. In the same year, there were nearly 13,000 registrations for off-campus courses.

"Continuing attention should be given to lowering barriers to part-time enrollment now posed by inflexible scheduling of courses and by disproportionately high fee charges for this type of service," the report says.

See Abortion As Issue In Election

CINCINNATI (AP) — The "visibility" afforded the issue of abortion by the presidential candidates was termed encouraging by the chairman of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops.

Roman Catholic officials are awaiting the time and date for a meeting next week with President Gerald R. Ford. A similar, but "disappointing" meeting was held Tuesday with Democratic candidate Jimmy Carter after Carter reiterated his previous stand against working for a constitutional amendment while personally continuing to oppose abortion. Carter, however, asked for more information on the subject.

The Most Rev. Joseph L. Bernardin, Cincinnati Archbishop, said the announcement of the meeting with Mr. Ford will be made by him once Mr. Ford sets the time.

The Tuesday meeting was requested by Carter, Archbishop Bernardin said. Mr. Ford also previously requested a such a meeting, the Archbishop said. However, the Cincinnati churchman added, "We do not oppose or support any individual candidate. We address ourselves to the issues and the practice of moral and religious issues."

"A byproduct of these meetings is that there is more visibility of the issue and it will be discussed not only by the candidates but by the people themselves."

Williamsons Again Work Con Games

SEATTLE (AP) — "The Williamson Gang is the slickest and most successful clan of bunco, flim-flam and confidence artists in the United States," the National Better Business Bureau says.

"The Williamsons are organized crime, perhaps second only to the Mafia," one Washington law enforcement official says.

The Williamson gang, a band of 250 intermarried descendants of a Scottish con man, is on its annual tour of the Northwest, making victims of the gullible in a multimillion dollar operation.

Law enforcement agencies say the Williamson gang and the related Boswell Group defrauds and cons thousands of people a year. It is penny-ante organized crime that adds up to bigtime larceny.

The gang wanders through the states, working its tricks on the unwitting. Members appear prosperous. Their equipment is new and in good condition, law officers say. Their approach is respectable.

They peddle frauds under the guise of roof or driveway repairs, termite exterminations, even selling so-called "Irish" lace and linen.

"They hit old people. Just last week a man living near Lacey was hit for $365. They sprayed this aluminum-colored stuff on his roof. They didn't even bother to clean his roof first. I don't think the so-called sealer will last through the summer," said Lt. Mac McFarland of the Thurston County sheriff's office.

Tacoma officials reported that one old woman paid a Williamson gang member $195 to prune trees. He got the check and left immediately for the bank, where he altered the check and cashed it for $695. No trees were pruned.

The first Williamson was Robert Logan Williamson, who came to the country from Scotland before the turn of the century. By 1914, he had established the gang on the East Coast.

The gang was first reported in Washington State in 1923. Law officers say the gang has toured the Northwest almost every year for 53 years.

The gang is now thought to include 250 members, about 120 of them active figures. Officers say it is hard to get an accurate tally, because if arrested, the Williamsons usually are charged with violating local ordinances.

Usually, they post bail and leave, chalking up the lost money as the cost of doing business.

Family names are Williamson, Stewart, McMillan, McDonald, Gregg and Johnstone.

Law agencies say the Boswell Group are Williamson associates. Names they use include Wharton, Waller, Waldrop and Slender.

One California Justice Department report indicates that each traveling group pays into a central gang fund. It said the gang has real estate holdings, including California holdings worth $5 million and property in Texas valued at $10 million.

Each of the purchases was made in cash.

The report said that new generations of gang members, the offspring of intermarried ancestral Williamsons, take over operations as old members retire.

Proxmire Rips U.S. As 'Arms Pusher'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration's $5.9-billion arms package, the bulk of which would go to Iran, faces roadblocks in Congress based on fear of an uncontrollable arms race in the Persian Gulf and concern for Israel's security.

Calling the United States the would-be "arms pusher of the century," Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., has pledged to introduce resolutions to block most, if not all, of the projected sales to 10 countries before Congress adjourns on Oct. 2.

Sources said that other senators and a group of House members following the lead of Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y., are prepared to whittle away at the Saudi Arabia share.

In an 11th-hour concession, the Ford administration trimmed its Saudi request to 850 Sidewinder and 650 Maverick missiles, but pro-Israel minded congressmen still may hack away at the total.

Recent legislation gives Congress authority to kill any foreign arms deal involving $25 million or more within 30 days of formal notification.

A Senate staff study published Aug. 2 said U.S. arms sales to Iran have been chaotic and are "not yet fully under control." Noting that about 1,500 Defense Department personnel are assigned in Iran, the report said that in the event of a clash in the area "the United States personnel ... could become, in a sense, hostages."

Proxmire, vowing a floor fight, said, "Iran and Saudi Arabia are maneuvering for military dominance in and around the Arabian Gulf."

He objected also that the Mavericks and Sidewinders ticketed for Saudi Arabia be turned against Israel. He said that arming Pakistan, which is to receive $80 million in weapons, could spark another arms race with India.

Since 1972, Iran has received $10 billion in U.S. arms and Saudi Arabia, running a strong second, has picked up $6 billion worth. Iran would get the bulk of the newest arms package — $4.4 billion.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, when visiting Tehran last month, said Iran planned to spend another $10 billion for military purchases from the United States through 1980. According to knowledgeable congressional sources, Kissinger acknowledged to a closed Senate subcommittee last Friday that "in good conscience, it would be hard to say there is an integrated program" for arming Iran.

Israel also had a share in the package — with $240 million earmarked for what sources said will include sophisticated ammunition, much of it for Israel's air force, including about 3,000 cluster-bombs, 300 Sidewinders and 300 Walleye bombs.

The arms sales totaled $115 million for South Korea, $110 million for Singapore, $100 million for Norway, $89 million for Morocco, $80 million for Pakistan, $39 million for West Germany and $29 million for Australia.

City Police Investigate Break-In

Circleville Police investigated a breaking and entering and an attempt at breaking and entering Wednesday.

According to the report, Rev. Eugene Purdy, pastor of Calvary United Methodist Church, told police that thieves pried open a desk drawer in an office but apparently nothing was removed. Police think the culprit entered the church through an unlocked door on the north side of the building.

John Porter told police that someone tried to gain entry to the basement of the Pickaway County Library. Ptl. Howard Fletcher discovered pry marks on a window opening into the basement of the building, and a heavy wire covering over the window had been loosened. Entry to the basement was not gained.

existing "Good Samaritan" law, a law protecting persons who render assistance in emergencies.

"Whatever protection an (emergency technician) had prior to the effective date of the legislation, he still has that protection the day after," Cox said. Tom Moyer, executive assistant to the governor, accepted the explanation.

The problem with the law resulted from the "grandfather clause," legal slang for the section that was supposed to have allowed existing personnel to continue their work without problem. The grandfather clause in the new law allowed the board of education to issue certificates to existing personnel if they received training "comparable to that required" for regular certification.

However, the board's interpretation said that was not sufficient to certify the existing technicians because it still called for extensive training which most of the attendants do not have.

The committee drafting the corrective bill proposed substituting less stringent requirements set by the U.S. Department of Transportation.

It also would "grandfather" present personnel by adding new language saying, "persons performing the functions of emergency medical technicians on Aug. 31, 1976...may continue to function in that capacity until Aug. 31, 1977."

The proposal also would delay the effectiveness of the penalty clause, which provides misdemeanor penalties for noncertified ambulance personnel, to Jan. 1, 1978, allowing 16 additional months to complete certification.

Ronald Reagan Back On The Air

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "This is Ronald Reagan and I'm back on the air every weekday with comment on politics, current affairs and world affairs," said the man seated at the big boom mike in the radio studio.

Reagan, wearing a sports short and maroon slacks, was taping the first 12 shows Wednesday in his new series of five-minute daily political commentaries.

The first show consists largely of reminiscences about his nine-month campaign and the Republican National Convention at Kansas City, Mo., where he narrowly lost the GOP presidential nomination to President Ford. Reagan attacked what he called "machine politics" in states that went against his candidacy.

After the recording session, the former California governor and ex-actor sipped champagne in a "Welcome Back to Hollywood" party in the sound studio with Jack Webb, Art Linkletter and other Hollywood personalities.

A GIANT — Is the only way to describe this green bean found in the garden of Robert Farrar, 118 Nicholas Drive. The monster came from a seed company in Miami Beach, Florida, that specializes in hybrid and giant seed varieties. According to the Farrars, this bean is not the biggest one in the garden. They also report that the beans make a very tasty dish. The bean in the picture is at least 36 inches long and of underdetermined weight.

Criminal Justice Shows Will Run On Cable TV

Pickaway County Volunteers for Youth VFY will sponsor a series of twelve hour-long programs entitled "Volunteers in Criminal Justice" to be broadcast by Circleville Cablevision Associates on cable channel six Tuesdays and Thursdays at 7 p.m. Sept. 7 through Oct. 14.

The series consists of twenty videotapes selected from the National Education Training Program's undergraduate college course which is currently being taught at six universities in three states. Local VFY member Marsha Schneider, who took the original course at Olivet College Michigan in July, 1974, made the selections from tapes available for lease to members of the Ohio Association of Volunteers in Criminal Justice.

"I'm really excited about this program," Mrs. Schneider stated. "This will be an excellent educational opportunity for the entire community, besides providing the best in-service training available anywhere for our volunteers and court personnel. I know we'll get a lot of viewers. Circleville is a remarkably caring town. People are involved in helping others in every sort of way. And it is the involved person who this series will attract."

Cable TV will run the series as a public service on cable channel six, which is reserved for educational programming. Pat Ayers of CATV noted that Mrs. Schneider is the first person who has requested to use channel six, although it is available free of charge to the public for educational programming.

A series of articles prepared by Mrs. Schneider which will detail the tapes' content and provide background information on the speakers will be printed weekly in the Herald and listed in the CATV Guide.

Logan Elm Braves Set For September 10 Opening

THE 1976 LOGAN ELM BRAVES

By CRAIG ALLISON
Herald Staff Writer

"We will not be oriented to primarily the run or the pass. We will use both as the need arises."

Those words sum up Coach Bill Frost's outlook concerning his offense as the Logan Elm Braves head into the homestretch of pre-season drills. The Braves are gearing up for an 8 p.m. date on Sept. 10 against the Vikings of Teays Valley at the Vikings home field.

With just eight lettermen returning, Frost's charges have had to work extra hard in the summer drills to overcome inexperience in some areas. But the captain of the Brave ship was largely pleased with practices. "We have been working hard, and team spirit is real good. We're confident of a successful season."

Frost doesn't say where the Braves fit into the Mid-State League picture. He says that looking at the situation now, Amanda-Clearcreek looks like a top finisher, but that Pickerington or defending champion Canal Winchester should be the ones to take all the marbles. "But that's looking at the situation now. Who knows what the picture will be 10 weeks from now," stated Frost. He sees the Braves as a strong darkhorse, one that could provide some surprises.

The 53 candidates in the Brave's camp will run or pass from the straight T or slot offenses, and according to

Frost, "we'll keep things pretty basic. There's no need to get fancy."

On defense the Logan Elm eleven will use the 6-2.

For the Logan Elm boosters, here is a complete schedule of the war councils the Braves will hold this fall:

Sept. 10 At Teays Valley
Sept. 17 Berne Union
Sept. 24 At Amanda-Clearcreek
Oct. 1 At Fairfield Union
Oct. 8 Liberty Union
Oct. 15 At Canal Winchester
Oct. 22 Fisher Catholic
Oct. 29 At Bloom-Carroll

Birds Trip Royals, 7-1

AP Sports Writers

Home run hitters are supposed to drive fancy cars and hog the headlines, but one of the best of the breed, Baltimore's Lee May, labors in obscurity. He has hit 20 or more home runs in each of the past nine seasons. His three-run homer Wednesday night, which helped Baltimore beat the Kansas City Royals 7-1, tied him with Sal Bando of Oakland for the American League lead with 24. His four runs batted in raised his league-leading total to 90. But still the headlines have escaped him.

"That has been the story of my life," May said. "I have learned to live with it. But if you do enough, the owners know it and they give you a decent salary."

"A lot of guys like to see their names in the papers, but I don't read the papers. I don't care about ink. I'm a low-key guy. I can't stand a lot of controversy."

In other American League games, the Boston Red Sox beat the Texas Rangers 3-0, the Minnesota Twins edged the Milwaukee Brewers 3-2 in 12 innings, the Cleveland Indians blanked the Chicago White Sox 3-0, the California Angels defeated the Detroit Tigers 4-1 and the Oakland A's shut out the New York Yankees 5-0.

May's three-run homer in the fifth inning capped a five-run outburst that broke the game open for the Orioles. Reggie Jackson, one slugger who gets more than his share of headlines, hit a two-run single right before May connected.

"The race between Reggie and me gives each of us a little extra incentive you need at this time of year," observed May. Jackson has 22 homers and 80 RBI.

Red Sox 3, Rangers 0
Ferguson Jenkins' season ended in the fifth inning against Texas, when the Boston pitcher suffered a torn right Achilles tendon in making a putout at first base. He faced surgery today.

Jenkins allowed four hits for 4-1-3 innings, then reliever Tom Murphy held Texas hitless the rest of the way to get the win.

Indians 3, White Sox 0
Cleveland won its fifth in a row as Jim Bibby, 10-5, pitched a five-hitter. Ray Fosse homered and Buddy Bell doubled home one run and scored another.

Angels 4, Tigers 1
The Angels equalled their longest winning streak of the season, four games, as Frank Tanana raised his record to 15-9 by stopping the Tigers on six hits. Dave Collins had three hits for California, including a two-run double in the fourth inning when the Angels scored all their runs.

Twins 3, Brewers 2
Rod Carew's speed accounted for the Twins' 12th-inning triumph. He beat out a single and then scored all the way from first when catcher Darrell Porter threw Lyman Bostock's sacrifice bunt into right field. Reliever Bill Campbell, 14-4, got the victory.

A's 5, Yanks 0
Oakland pulled to within seven games of first-place Kansas City in the AL West as Vida Blue stopped the Yankees on seven hits. The A's got all their runs off ex- teammate Catfish Hunter, 14-13, who didn't last through the fifth inning. New York's lead over Baltimore in the AL East was trimmed to 10½ games.

Off the pre-season competition, it won't be easy. After winning their first two exhibitions, giving up just three points, the Colts dropped their next three while playing uninspired ball.

In addition, Baltimore made what appears to be a dangerous gamble by trading veteran quarterback Marty Domres to the San Francisco 49ers.

That leaves Bill Troup, who has called just one play in two NFL seasons, as the backup to Bert Jones, an emerging star who is sometimes a reckless runner and played with injured ribs much of last season.

Miami, which never has won fewer than 10 games during Shula's six seasons at the helm, hardly crumbled last year and was nudged out of the playoffs because of two losses to Baltimore — the second by a 10-7 score in overtime.

VICTORS — Pictured above are the three principles who combined to make racing history recently. In front is John Fetherolf from Circleville who trained the horse, Stonehenge, to victory at Commodore Downs in Erie, Pa. With the victory, Stonehenge became the oldest thoroughbred ever to win in racing history. Aboard Stonehenge for the history-making ride was jockey Pete Dalgo, who rides Fetherolf's entire stable.

John Fetherolf Makes Horse Racing History

John Fetherolf, a young horse trainer from the Circleville area, has been in the news from Los Angeles to New York recently. Fetherolf is training a 16 year old horse named Stonehenge, who has become the oldest thoroughbred ever to win in racing history.

Stonehenge has been under the care of Fetherolf for two months. The 16 year old gelding is over 100 years old in human age, but Fetherolf says that the thoroughbred looks and feels as good as any young horse.

The chestnut horse, owned by the estate of the late Andy Kachur, won on Aug. 13 at Commodore Downs in Erie, Pa.

Early in Stonehenge's career he was ordered destroyed by veterinarians due to leg injuries. Instead, his owners had him operated on and a screw was placed in his knee. In 1966 Mr. Kachur claimed him at Waterford Park and Stonehenge, then six, broke the screw in his knee. Again veterinarians suggested that he be destroyed. Mr. Kachur, feeling sorry for the horse, took him to his farm and turned him out to pasture. After a years rest Stonehenge had healed completely, and he came back to the track winning 19 races for Kachur and making more than $30,000.

Stonehenge, sired by Call Over and out of Free Model, is a Virginia bred who didn't race until he was four. He now has 30 career victories. Before Kachur claimed him, Stonehenge had 10 owners and he won his first race at Laurel Race Course in 1964.

Kachur's widow Grace says that of all the horses they've owned, "Pappy", as he's been nicknamed, is the only horse that will retire on the farm to live the rest of his life out.

Veteran jockey Pete Dalgo, who rides Fetherolf's entire stable, rode Stonehenge to victory once again. Being Kachur's son-in-law, he's ridden the old horse many times before.

According to Dalgo, the young trainer from Circleville has a bright future ahead of him. Fetherolf recently won with another older horse, a 12 year old named Billy Meadow.

Cleveland Cavaliers Set Exhibition Slate

RICHFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A pair of meetings with the Buffalo Braves, two more with the Detroit Pistons and one with the National Basketball Association champion Boston Celtics make up the exhibition schedule for the Cleveland Cavaliers.

The Cavaliers, who open their preseason training at the Coliseum here Sept. 24, will play public intrasquad games at Ashland College in Ashland, Ohio, on Thursday, Sept. 30, and at Lakeland Community College in Mentor, Ohio, on Sunday, Oct. 3.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Red Schoendienst, who has watched his club lose in similar fashion, seemed hard-pressed for words.

Finally the St. Louis Cardinals manager assembled his thoughts and reflected on the sequence leading to a 1-0 victory Wednesday night over the Cincinnati Reds.

Honest Chance Wins Ag Pace At State Fair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Honest Chance, driven by Fred McIntosh, won the $31,325 Director of Agriculture Pace for three year olds in harness racing at the Ohio State Fair Wednesday, posting a time of 2:00 1-5.

Owned by Fred Drovillard, of Windsor, Ont., the horse added to its season earnings for a total of $29,541. Honest Chance has won seven races in 13 starts this year.

The first elimination heat was won by Our Rebeck, owned by William D. Long, of Blackfork, Ohio, and driven by Jim Parkinson. Honest Chance was second in that heat. In the second division, the winner was Baron the Brut, owned by E.T. Zwefel of Evanston, Ill., and driven by Wayne Plowman. The winning time in both heats was 2:01.1.

In the race off, Baron Joseph, driven by Wayne Nickells, came in second behind Honest Chance. Baron the Brut was third.

In the $15,800 two year-old Filly Trot, Little Ebben, driven by Jack Morgan and owned by Floyd Powell of Newark, Ohio was the winner with a time of 2:07.1.

The first division winner was Trenton Queen, driven by Cliff Huber, with a time of 2:07.4. Second division winner was Maggy Coalton, driven by Dick Buxton who completed the circuit in 2:09.4.

Little Ebben was second in the second elimination heat. Second in the final event was Lyric Hill. Placing third was Spotlite Hill.

The feature Thursday in the final day of harness racing at the fair is the $30,000 Governor's Cup Trot for three year olds.

PCC Pro 5th In District Open

Pickaway Country Pro Jim Stemble finished fifth in the District open at Murfild Village Golf Course held Tuesday and Wednesday.

Stemble put together rounds of 77 and 78 for a 155 total and at one time held a share of the lead.

The open was won by Jack Frost, Portsmouth Elks Country Club pro, while Larry Cassidy of Brookside, a former assistant at Pickaway Country Club, was second.

Cassidy and Frost were both in at 152, Cassidy with a 2-under par 70 on the final round, but Frost broke the deadlock on the second hole of the playoff.

Christian Softball Playoffs Scheduled

The finals for the men's tournament of the Circleville Christian Softball Assn. will be held 6:30 p.m. tonight when the First Baptist Church meets Jefferson Church of Christ in Christian Union.

The championship game will be played on the main diamond. The playoff for second place pitting Circleville Church of Christ in Christian Union and Circleville Church of God will be held at the same time on the little league diamond at Ted Lewis Park.

On Saturday at 1 p.m. the women's playoff for second place will be held. Hedges Chapel, First Baptist and Laurelville Church of God are all tied for second in the women's division.

Reds Drop Heartbreaker, 1-0

Cincinnati Reds.

"It's really something to see a guy with three men on base pitch so well and get two tough left-handed hitters and wind up walking the third guy," Schoendienst suggested.

"That's part of this game, I guess," he shrugged. "Sometimes you win like that and then other times you lose."

The loser, in 11 innings, was Rawly Eastwick, 9-5, who threw four straight balls to Don Kessinger with the bases full.

But even before the occasion, the outspoken star of the Reds' bullpen said he had felt crowded into a corner by the cruel hand of fate.

"It was a strange circumstance. The ball should have been caught in my opinion," Eastwick said of Keith Hernandez' double to left field leading off the 11th.

"I'm a hard thrower. Hernandez can't pull me," Eastwick maintained in reference to the deployment of Mike Lum in the outfield.

"He wasn't playing the right position," Eastwick added. "When you get a guy up and are pitching him away you've got to play him straightaway and not in the gap."

Lum, apprised of Eastwick's remarks, contended he was playing straightaway and that Hernandez' opposite field drive "kept curving toward the line."

Be that as it may, its falling in for a hit brought about the intentional walking of Ted Simmons to set up a force play. It was followed by Charlie Chant's safe bunt to load the bases.

Eastwick retired Willie Crawford and Ron Fairly on shallow flies to center field, then wavered while facing Kessinger.

"I just rushed myself," the flushed Cincinnati right-hander said. "I started pushing the ball when I got behind."

The loss, the Reds' second in three nights against St. Louis, came after left-hander Fred Norman battled Cards righthander Harry Rasmussen on even terms through 10 scoreless innings.

Al Hrabosky, 7-6, followed Rasmussen to the mound in the 11th and picked up his first triumph since Aug. 3 while making his 58th appearance.

"When you shut somebody out for 10 innings you're supposed to win," Cincinnati's Joe Morgan declared.

With a month to go in the National League season, the Philadelphia Phillies are looking over their shoulder — at 1964.

The Phillies were leading the NL East Division by 15 games last week. Now, the Pittsburgh Pirates are just 9½ back and making Phillies Manager Danny Ozark a little uneasy.

"We haven't had a streak like this all year and it is a bad time to have it," Ozark said after the Houston Astros handed the Phillies their sixth straight defeat, 1-0, Wednesday night.

The Pirates defeated San Diego 4-1 to run their winning streak to six in a row.

"Frankly, our chances of getting them are slim, as anyone can see," Pirates Manager Danny Murtaugh said. "But in this game no one ever gives up. All we can do is keep on playing our best and hope."

In other NL games Wednesday, St. Louis edged Cincinnati 1-0 in 11 innings, the New York Mets nipped San Francisco 1-0 and Chicago defeated Atlanta 7-5 in 14 innings. The Los Angeles at Montreal game was postponed because of rain.

In 1964, the Phillies were leading the league by 6½ games with two weeks remaining in the season when they went into a similar tailspin. Philadelphia lost 10 games in a row and the St. Louis Cardinals came on to capture the pennant.

"We're capable of coming out of it and winning some ball games," Ozark said Wednesday after being shut out by rookie Bo McLaughlin, 3-2.

Cliff Johnson's homer in the seventh inning was all McLaughlin needed as he scattered six hits in picking up his second shutout of the season. Jim Kaat, 11-10, was the loser.

Pirates 4, Padres 1

Four unearned runs and a seven-hitter by pitchers Bruce Kison and Kent Tekulve gave Pittsburgh victory over San Diego, the Pirates' sixth straight win. The Pirates scored all of their runs in the fourth, aided by an error by San Diego second baseman Tito Fuentes which allowed the first run of the inning to score. Richie Hebner doubled in the second run and then Kison, 11-8, capped the inning with his two-run single.

Cubs 7, Braves 5
Jerry Morales' fourth hit of the game drove in two runs in the 14th inning to give Chicago its triumph over Atlanta. The game, which was delayed twice by rain, was tied in the bottom of the ninth when the Braves' Ken Henderson smacked a two-run homer, his 13th of the season.

Darold Knowles, 5-6, the Cubs' fourth pitcher, picked up the victory.

Mets 1, Giants 0

Jerry Koosman's three-hitter and doubles by Felix Millan and John Milner lifted the New York Mets past San Francisco.

Koosman, 17-8, struck out six and walked just one as he outdueled John Montefusco, 13-12.

CHICAGO (AP) — "We've been going in streaks all season, let's just hope we can keep this one going," said Manager Frank Robinson Wednesday night after his Cleveland Indians had belted the Chicago White Sox 3-0 behind the fivehit pitching of Jim Bibby.

The victory was the fifth straight for the Indians and their eighth in the last nine games but gained them nothing in their drive to catch second place Baltimore in the American League East.

Baltimore defeated Kansas City 7-1 to remain two games ahead of Cleveland which matched its longest winning streak of the season.

Ray Fosse's second homer of the year in the fourth inning was all the support Bibby needed to gain his second shutout and 10th victory against five losses. Buddy Bell doubled to knock in a run in the ninth and scored another insurance run on a single by Frank Duffy.

Bibby walked one and struck out four as he breezed to his second complete game of the season.

Southpaw pitcher Jon Matlack of the New York Mets won eight of his first nine decisions this season.

France Becomes Fertile Field For Assassins

PARIS (AP) — Shadowy terrorists have picked France as a place to carrying out assassinations, kidnappings and bombings, leaving French police in a state of deep frustration.

In the past few years, two ambassadors have been assassinated in the streets of Paris, two other diplomats seriously wounded, an Air France plane hijacked, bazooka shells fired at Israeli planes, and scores of terrorist bombings and other violent acts.

Only one major terrorist organization has been broken up by the French police. The biggest fish of all, the international terrorist leader known as Carlos, skipped through a police net and out of France after killing two detectives in a bungled police operation.

Interior Minister Michel Poniatowski has said he is convinced that the terrorist groups would be "dismantled one day." But a spokesman for his ministry admitted that the identities of most of the terrorists are unknown.

"They sign tracts after attacks with phony organization names made up for the occasion, changing them each time, so it's very difficult to tell which are connected," he said.

The "Che Guevara International Brigade" claimed responsibility for killing the Bolivian ambassador, Gen. Joaquin Zenteno Anaya, on a Paris street last May. The "Che Guevara International Brigade" had never been heard of before, or since. Gen. Zenteno Anaya commanded the military force which tracked down and killed the Cuban revolutionary in Bolivia in 1967.

Police confirmed a terrorist claim that the same gun was used to kill the Bolivian ambassador and to wound Capt. Bartolome Plata-Valle, deputy Spanish military attache in Paris, last October. No valid connection has ever been made between the two attacks.

A source who has studied the patterns of terrorist activity said that Paris might be a major center for a number of reasons.

Among the reasons cited: Paris is an international travel hub, France has a long tradition of giving haven to exiles, a very wide range of diplomatic representation is in France, large delegations of foreign students or dissidents who might provide backup or logistic support without even knowing it are residents of France. Foreign visitors of all nationalities pass unnoticed in the streets. Passport control at highway or rail border points is only perfunctory.

Palestinian supporters have been the most active in terrorist operations around the world and have pulled some of the most daring in France, including attacks on the Saudi Arabian Embassy and Orly Airport.

One informant who has studied the methods of Palestinian terrorists said that for important operations an advance group is sent in to scout out targets, check their movements and decide on locations. The man or group assigned to carry out the attack arrives on the scene only a short time ahead of the strike and does not know the target until a few hours before the action.

All movement is by broken voyages, to leave a cold trail. Someone travelling from Beirut to Paris, for example, might first stop over briefly in Vienna, Copenhagen and Zurich.

The planning party is probably already outside the country before the attack comes off and the strike man and accomplices leave as quickly as possible, the source said.

There is no way of knowing if others operate in the same way, but it is considered possible that there is some sort of intelligence interchange among international terrorists.

Capture of international terrorists often leads to another terrorist operation to free any jailed operatives. This leaves police and government authorities wondering whether it is worthwhile to risk lives in a futile cause.

The only terrorist group that has been "disorganized" in France was the International Revolutionary Action Group, which was active with bombings and kidnappings in France against primarily Spanish targets last year. This was essentially a domestic group, living and operating in France, making police work easier.

A smaller catch came with the arrest in June of Evelyne Barge, a 31-year-old militant anti-Zionist revolutionary, and three alleged male accomplices. They were accused of bomb attacks on a Paris police station and a branch of the Rothschild bank. Miss Barge had been arrested at Israel's Lod airport in 1971 when she was found to be travelling with a false passport and carrying explosives. She was sentenced to 14 years in prison but pardoned and expelled from Israel in 1974. She had been working as a schoolteacher in France.

No one has been arrested in the case of Jochim Peiper, a former Nazi SS colonel, who was burned to death in his home in eastern France in July. A clandestine group calling itself the "Aavengers" claimed responsibility for the death.

Police said that assailants surrounded the house and hurled fire bombs at the wooden structure. An autopsy showed that Peiper died of asphyxiation, and police theorized he had stayed too long in the flaming house in an effort to save the manuscript of a book he was writing.

The Communist party had organized a campaign for Peiper's expulsion from France, but party officials said they had nothing to do with threats that he would be killed on Bastille Day, July 14, France's national holiday.

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

Drop into the Children's Room this week and you'll find a variety of new books that have arrived just in time for school.

"Squawk to the Moon, Little Goose" may well become a favorite for preschoolers and lower elementary students. Set in the imaginative moonlit world of farm animals, this modern fable about disobedience and self-reliance is illustrated by past Caldecott Award winner Barbara Cooney. You can find this story in our Easy Reader section.

The same age group will be highly entertained with "Rhymes About Us" by scholar and writer Marchette Chute. Included here are 60 simple and appealing poems about familiar objects (e.g., "Crayons") and experiences (e.g., "Learning to Swim").

Upper elementary and junior high students who enjoy modern poetry will want to read "Poems Here and Now." This small volume contains readable selections from outstanding contemporary poets and should be fun even for reluctant readers of poetry.

Interested in Indian legends? "Raven-Who-Sets-Things-Right" is an account of the creation stories of the Northwest coastal Indians. The book is well written and attractively designed with drawings based on ancient motifs.

Our two newest biographies deal with F.D.R. and Mahalia Jackson. Based on interviews and material obtained from the FDR Library, "Franklin D. Roosevelt" gives a brief "well-rounded" picture of the politician's public career. Black and white photos sprinkle this large print text.

"Make a Joyful Noise Unto the Lord!" describes the struggle Mahalia Jackson underwent before becoming "the Queen of Gospel Singers." The moving story, as much a story of the civil rights movement as it is of this famous singer, is part of the "Women of America" series edited by Milton Meltzer.

If you work with children, you'll want to borrow "Holiday Ring" the next time you start digging for special program material. This helpful tool is an anthology of poems, short stories, and essays pertinent to holidays and special occasions for each month of the year.

Cool Air Prevalent

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Skies were clear and the weather was cool over most of the nation this morning. Showers and thundershowers were scattered over the Appalachians, the southern Ohio valley, the Gulf coast states and Arkansas. Isolated thunderstorms and associated dust storms lingered in parts of southern Arizona and extreme southeast California. There also were some showers in eastern Minnesota.

Aside from the rainy regions, cloudy skies were restricted to the Atlantic coast states and the Pacific coast.

It was a frosty night for northern Michigan and northeast Minnesota, with some freezing temperatures. Temperatures dipped into the 40s in North Dakota but were in the 70s along the Gulf and south Atlantic coasts.

Early Wednesday night, wind gusts of up to 50 miles per hour created some blowing dust in parts of eastern Washington.

Overnight temperatures around the nation ranged from 29 at Marquette, Mich., to 88 at Nellis Air Force Base near Las Vegas, Nev.

The Battle of Sedan, the most decisive in the Franco-Prussian war, ended Sept. 3, 1870, with the surrender of the French army and the capture of Napoleon III.

South Africa Raps Kissinger

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Prime Minister John Vorster has rejected Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's criticism of South Africa's racial policies, saying "moral lessons and threats" from outsiders will not influence his government.

In a statement three days before he and Kissinger meet to discuss racial tensions in southern Africa's white-ruled nations, Vorster said Wednesday that South Africa determines its own internal and foreign policies and will not be dictated to by other nations or individuals.

He said he was not commenting directly on recent "speeches or events" but wanted to clarify his nation's attitude.

Kissinger, in his strongest condemnation of South Africa's apartheid racial policy, told a predominantly black audience in Philadelphia Tuesday that apartheid is "incompatible with human dignity." He said he would press Vorster at their meeting for "peaceful change, equality of opportunity and basic human rights in South Africa."

The two men meet this weekend in Zurich, Switzerland, in a second round of talks aimed at reaching peaceful political settlements of the racial conflicts in Rhodesia and South-West Africa, a territory controlled by South Africa in defiance of the United Nations.

Despite Kissinger's strong words and the persistence of racial violence in South Africa's black townships, U.S. officials in Washington said Wednesday that the secretary of state, at his meeting with Vorster, would concentrate on South-West Africa. They said he would try to persuade Vorster to withdraw South African troops from the territory and to include the black nationalist South-West Africa People's Organization in political talks leading to independence.

The sources in Washington said Kissinger and Vorster are not expected to make much headway on the issue of black majority rule in Rhodesia. Some U.S. officials believe that Vorster, whose country is Rhodesia's main economic partner, has not applied as much pressure on the white Rhodesian government as Kissinger hoped he would.

Rhodesian government figures showed that August was the bloodiest month to date in the escalating war between the white government and black nationalist guerrillas operating from neighboring Mozambique. More than 430 insurgents, 15 police and soldiers and 40 civilians were reported killed.

Hays Visibly Aged As Scandal Unfolded

BELMONT, Ohio (AP) — Wayne Hays could call his older constituents by name and recall how he swam in a creek with them in boyhood days.

At a Memorial Day celebration in his native Bannock, he broke down and wept unabashedly when recalling the memory of his younger brother who came home from World War II a hero but later committed suicide.

He arrived at a political rally in June nearly two hours late, but his constituents waited. They said he had never let them down.

When he got to the campaign rally, he talked about his troubles with his mistress, Elizabeth Ray. Never once did he mention her name.

He introduced his new bride, Pat, a 35-year-old willowy blonde from the South who, as his district office manager in St. Clairsville, has "that sweet voice on the telephone whose suffered more about this than I have." There were two rounds of applause.

While Wayne Levere Hays worked for and had respect for the little people in his district in eastern Ohio, he admitted that he pushed around some big people in Washington and said they were out to take away all his power.

"I'm not guilty of anything except a little damn foolishness," he said of his affair with Miss Ray. She accused him of keeping her on a congressional payroll at $14,000 annually for personal favors only. He denied it.

"And if they sent everybody to jail who made a mistake — and I made one and I apologize for it — well, you know there wouldn't be enough to go around..."

There was laughter at what the crowd thought was the obvious meaning. Hays was only warming up and picked up on the double entendre. "Jails that is."

More laughter.

But if it was a lark, it cost Hays heavily. Within three months his 28-year career in Congress was destroyed. The controversy sent him, his wife and her father into the hospital.

When Hays came out of the hospital after an overdose of sleeping pills that he said was accidental, the roar of the crowds died down. He looked older than his 65 years and less confident. He had lost 15 pounds in eight days in the hospital.

It was painful for him to stand at a bicentennial appearance in Stratton. Few turned out to applaud him and the ceremony was subdued, as was Hays.

By now, pressure from colleagues had forced him to resign his powerful chairmanships of the House Administration Committee and the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee. There was little else left.

Safety glass became standard equipment in automobiles as early as 1928.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Important now: common sense, logical analysis and calm appraisal of all situations. Job and financial matters highly favored, but take no risks.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Don't make snap decisions and don't expect the "worst" — a tendency now. No matter how difficult your tasks, you can do a better job than you may think.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Mercury influences stimulate your ambitions and incentives. This is no time for worry or doubt. You can accomplish a great deal if making the best use of your talents.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Your innate self-reliance and your ability to come back stronger after meeting and besting challenges will serve you well now. Think and judge with tolerance.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): This is a time for review — to find missing links, details hidden to the casual eye, to change a course which is obviously leading to a dead end. Use accumulated knowledge.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Not too much planetary help, but an alert person like yourself can always manipulate an "off" day into one that's both interesting and satisfying — often in an unexpected manner.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): The strong-minded must make doubly sure they are right before acting, lest they carry others down the wrong road. The usually well-balanced Libran should keep this in mind now.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): The strong-minded must make doubly sure they are right before acting, lest they carry others down the wrong road. The usually well-balanced Libran should keep this in mind now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Consider all propositions and suggestions offered, but do not be inveigled into anything that's not "your cup of tea." Fine influences stimulate your ambitions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Do not jeopardize a dandy opportunity to stabilize your REAL interests now and DO by-pass nonessentials. Have a try at an eye-catching new method.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Considering this day's fine stellar influences, you should easily be able to produce top-notch results, increase assets, reanimate ambitions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Under day's favorable aspects, you can win new laurels by capitalizing on your fine imagination and by pooling ideas with those who share your enthusiasms.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Avoid restlessness, regrets over past errors, apprehension. These could all interfere with your progress. Step firmly, but also lightly and tactfully.

YOU BORN TODAY are noted for devotion to duty and a sense of responsibility. You are intellectually inclined, a serious thinker and often identified with "causes" to better the lot of mankind. The well-developed Virgoan will be a mainstay in family and community; through his gifts for statesmanship and diplomacy, may even become a sturdy pillar on the national scene. Creative and imaginative as well as practical, there are many fields in which you could succeed.

Views On Tiger Television

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In case you've been out the front door early this week and missed NBC's "Today" show, be advised that Tom Brokaw, of Yankton, S.D., is presiding there now. And doing okay, from what we've seen.

Brokaw, 36, started Monday as the sixth male regular host of "Today" since it began in 1952. His predecessor, Jim Hartz, now is the show's "traveling cohort," having traveled out of the studio last month.

The shift was a major part of NBC's move to jack up the show's slumping ratings, to start anew following Barbara Walters' defection to ABC in a blare of publicity and a cloud of greenbacks.

While Brokaw is well-known here from his reporting and anchoring work from 1966-73 at KNBC-TV, and gained much national exposure later as NBC's White House man, he's not a household word yet.

But that may come and he may even make the cover of People magazine as the citizenry gets used to his on-air style in coming dawn.

Said style is a fast wit and a slow delivery, a good combination for either the viewer who is alert the second the alarm clock goes off or the poor soul who doesn't show signs of life until around noon.

In interviews, Brokaw gets to the point quickly. He doesn't gently approach the victim, as occasionally was the "Today" custom, as if fearing a direct question would cause the subject to take offense.

True, he was nationally chided by no less than former Sen. Eugene McCarthy on one show for asking "kind of a silly question" of that independent candidate for president. But win a few, lose a few. It happens.

And you can't fault a guy who ends a very dull Betty Furness preview of children's back-to-school fashions by noting the ultimate in such threads may be "pants with stainless steel knees and shoes that grow."

Another plus for Brokaw, one of six or so newsmen who tried out for the host's job after Frank McGee's death in 1974, is that he doesn't do commercials, as all "Today" hosts except John Chancellor have done.

Brokaw's refusal to do them was a factor in why he then didn't get the job that now pays him, some reports say, over $400,000 annually.

For my dough, which is considerably less, the refusal was wise. A journalist shouldn't hawk goods.

Unfortunately, some hawking by other "Today" regulars persists. On Wednesday, arts critic Gene Shalit spoke out for a dog food and a weatherman-sports-caster did cotton and pest control commercials.

Let us hope Brokaw tries to persuade the authorities to end this.

We also hope he persuades those in charge to stop constantly advising viewers of upcoming "Today" features. One about the reopening of some Central Park eats emporium got five advance notices before checking in, and rather uninterestingly, at 8:42 a.m., Pacific Coast time.

With those grumbles done, let us say Brokaw is a fine choice for "Today." Now all NBC has to do is make an equally wise decision, expected later this month, on who'll replace Barbara Walters.

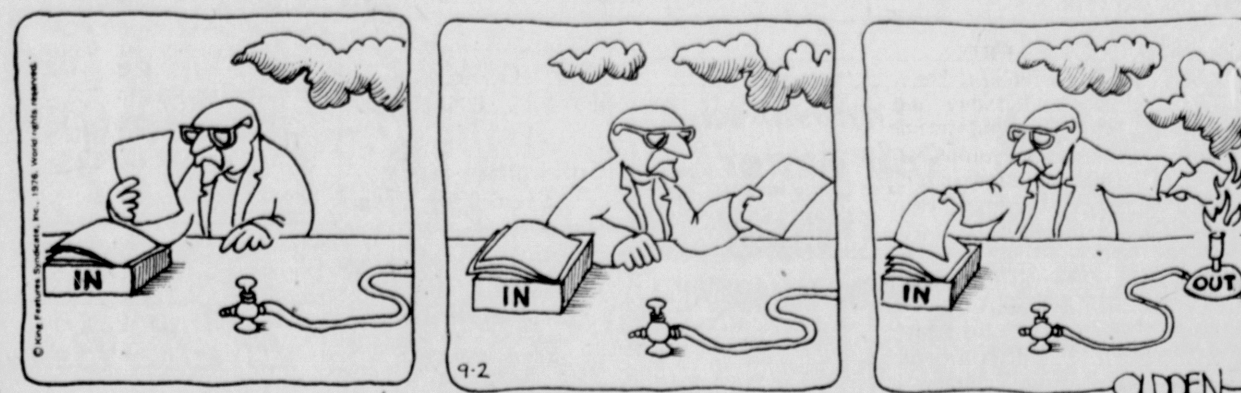

If you're wondering what's become of her, ABC says she'll start coanchoring its evening news with Harry Reasoner on Sept. 20.
